CUSHENDALL SHOW

INCREASED ENTRIES

Bright sunny weather favoured the opening of the eighth annual show of Cushendall Agricultural Association at Cushendall yesterday, but the afternoon programme was marred by rain. Nevertheless, the attendance showed an increase on the average, and the entries in all sections had increased in number and were of a high standard. During the show the committee received a telegram from Lady Cushendun, patroness of the event, who is in Austria, wishing their efforts every success. The President of the show is Councillor J. Maguire, and among the visitors were the Earl of Antrim, the Hon. Mr. McNeill-Moss and Mr. J. Getty, Chief Inspector of the Ministry of Agriculture, Northern Ireland.

The principal awards were:—Horses—Mr. P. Macaulay, Knockan, Cushendall; Mr. R. McLister, Ballycastle; Mr. F. O'Boyle, Forris, Glenariff; and Mr. H. O'Loan, Newtowncrumlin.

Cattle—Mr. W. Thompson, Broughshane; Mr. J. McCambridge, Cushendall; Mr. J. Murphy, Cushendall; and Mr. A. McAlister, Cushendall.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS

THREE-DOLLAR ADVANCE

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

Further rain in the drought area, favourable news of the American business outlook, and highly encouraging dividend prospects were three factors which contributed to the sustained advance on the Stock Exchange today. General gains touching 3 dollars were registered in a turnover of 1,660,000 shares.

The market closed firm. Gains of 2 dollars to 3 dollars were recorded by the Steel and Chemical divisions, and advances of fractions to 1 dollar by the Rail, Industrial, Utility, Farm Implement, Copper, and Communication groups.

Norfolk and Western Railway finished 12 dollars higher at 299 dollars under the combined influence of a small transfer and talk of a stock split-up.

Sterling exchange opened unchanged at 5.02 11/16 and declined during the morning to 5.02 1/4. The rate dropped further to 5.02 11/16 in the afternoon, and finally closed 1/16 lower compared with the previous close at 5.02 11/16.

Silver was unchanged at 44 3/4c.

Financial News & Notes

DUBLIN EASIER

RISE IN BANK STOCK

ALLIANCE GAS DULL

On the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday trading was at very low ebb and local issues attracted most attention, but the tone was generally easier.

The Free State Funds were steady to firm and the Second National Loan made fresh headway to 115. War Loan eased to 106¼.

There was good buying of Bank of Ireland Stock, which brought about a sharp rise of 2¼ points.

Guinness slipped back to 155s. 6d.

In Rails, Great Southern Deb. declined to 91.

Dublin Tram Ord. repeated 13s. 10½d.

Alliance Gas Ord. came in sellers and relapsed 5s.

May Roberts (Ireland) Ord. inclined higher, but Irish Shell Pref. eased a shade.

Imperial Tobaccos tended lower, but Textiles showed little change. Vickers Ord. gave way to 29s. 9d.

LONDON HARD

SUSTAINED DEMAND FOR GILT-EDGED

The London Stock Markets had a steady appearance yesterday; for, though business was of a restricted character and changes were small, the movements were mainly in favour of holders. With Paris again closed for the French national holiday, the Bourse had no influence upon the course of business in London, and doubts were expressed as to the line the Paris market will take when it opens to-morrow after the week-end developments in European politics. Foreign Bonds were firm in the early part of the day, and both German and Austrian Bonds marked an advance, but some selling occurred in the afternoon, and the gains were not held. Industrials were good in parts, and Mines received some support from the Cape.

BRITISH FUNDS.

There was a quietly sustained demand for Gilt-edged stocks, and movements were all in an upward direction, though they were confined to modest fractions, except in the case of India 3½ per cent., which put on ½. Funding Loan, 4 per cent. Consols, and 3½ per cent., 4 per cent., and 5 per cent. Conversion Loan all finished higher on the day.

FOREIGN BONDS.

In the foreign market German and Austrian descriptions were marked higher in the morning, but support was withdrawn in the afternoon, when prices slipped back. Chinese Bonds were firm, and held their gains to the end, and Japanese stocks were generally good, but losses occurred in Greek, Polish and Peruvian descriptions.

RAILS.

British Rails were again supported in the hope of satisfactory agreement being reached on the wage question, and Great Western 5 per cent. Pref., L.N.E. First Pref., L.M.S. Ord., and Southern Pref. Ord. and Def. Ord. all finished higher. Among Foreign Rails, one or two were inclined to go lower in the absence of business, and Canadian Pacifics lost the turn, but American Rails were adjusted upward, the rise in the case of Union Pacifics being three points.

Rubbers and Oils were uninteresting, but there were some good features among Industrials, where Triplex Glass were prominent; and in the Mining market the outstanding movements were in West Wits. and Randfontein, which made a sharp recovery.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS

Daggafontein Mines

In accordance with the formal notice already issued, the share transfer register of the above-named company will be closed from July 22 to July 31, 1936, inclusive. If the special resolution for the sub-division of shares which was passed at the extraordinary general meeting held on July 9, 1936, is confirmed at the further extraordinary general meeting to be held on July 24, 1936, the exchange of four shares of 5s. each for every share of £1 will be effected in accordance with the position shown by the share registers at the close of business on July 21, 1936. Stockbrokers and others holding transfers for registration are, therefore, notified that they should lodge them at the company's office on or before July 21.

Kern River Oil

A circular to shareholders of the Kern River Oilfields of California states that, having very carefully studied the position and the prospects open to the company, the board are of the opinion that the provision of further working capital for the general purposes of the company is fully justified, and they have, accordingly, decided to make an issue of 750,000 shares at the price of 3s. 8d. per share. Shareholders on the register on July 6 last are entitled to apply for the shares of this issue in the proportion of one new share in respect of every complete four shares held, the price of 3s. 8d. per share being payable as to 1s. per share on acceptance and the balance of 2s. 8d. per share on August 31, 1936. The shares of this issue will participate in all dividends paid in respect of the year commencing June 1, 1936, on the full nominal amount of the shares. Applications, together with a cheque for 1s. per share, must be forwarded to reach the company's bankers, Messrs. Glyn Mills and Co., 67 Lombard street, London, E.C.3, not later than July 27, 1936. If application is made for excess shares a separate cheque for the application money in respect thereof should accompany the application form. The directors add that the Treasury raise no objection to the issue.

London Asiatic Rubber

A circular to shareholders states that the directors have decided to offer to the members for subscription at 3s. 6d. per share 851,894 of the unissued 2s. shares of the company (to be converted into stock on issue) in the proportion of one new share for each 10 units of stock held by the members. The very satisfactory acquisitions of the last few years have reduced the company's surplus liquid assets, and, with a view to restoring them, and in order to provide for future capital expenditure (estimated at £15,000) on the estates now owned by the company, and to facilitate any further desirable amalgamations or acquisitions which may become possible in the future, the board has decided to make this issue. The directors add that at current prices a considerable increase in profits over those earned in 1936 may be looked for in 1936.

Legal Tender Note Fund

The amount of legal tender notes outstanding on July 11 was £8,147,676, as compared with £8,172,846 on July 4. The amount issued during the week was £132,836, and the amount redeemed £158,006.

New Companies

The following companies, given with the nominal capital of each, have been newly registered with offices in the Free State:—Castleisland Marble Quarries, Limited, £1,000; Clonmel Shoe Company, Limited, £5,000; Electric and Musical Industries (Ireland), Limited, £100; Irish Shoe Supplies, Limited, £20,000; the Kilkee Greyhound Racing Company, Limited, £2,000; Torc Manufacturing Company, Limited, £20,000. The company of J. B. Thompson, Limited (£2,000), has also been registered, with an office in Belfast.

Western Russia is sweltering in a heat wave, which is said to be the worst yet recorded. Temperatures of over 90 degrees in the shade are common, and crops are being burned up on a wide scale.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET

TENDENCY BECOMES IRREGULAR

Although a fair turnover was reported in the Iron and Steel section of the Industrial Market yesterday, there was a general disposition to snatch profits, and as a result price movements were mostly easy on balance.

After some hesitation at the start Transatlantic counters finished firm. "Emmies" were subject to further scattered realisations. Interest in Ericssons was stimulated by the Postmaster-General's "bonus" announcement to telephone users. International Automatics improved. Cable and Wireless stocks remained on the quiet side.

In the Aviation group Hawkers came into demand. Hawker-Siddeleys held around the previous close. Bristols hardened.

A rather easier tone prevailed in the Iron and Steel section, but prices on the whole were well maintained.

Among Provision and Catering issues, Unilevers came in for renewed inquiry from Amsterdam. The English shares improved, and the N.V. put on 1s.

On the whole, the improvement in Textiles continued.

There was less doing among Breweries, and prices moved in irregular fashion.

In the Alcohol section, Distillers were well maintained.

Tobaccos continued uncertain.

Bank shares received moderate support in places.

Apart from a further improvement in Furness-Withy, the Shipping section seemed undecided.

TRIPLEX FEATURING.

Apart from a few bright spots, the Miscellaneous section presented an irregular appearance. British Oxygens lacked fresh support, but Turner and Newalls, on the other hand, were a firm market. Associated Portland Cements were a few pence easier, as were Alphas. Triplex provided a good feature with a rise of ¼ on dividend expectations, and Brown Bros. were in request. Swedish Match "B" advanced 1s. 6d. on the terms of the deal between the company and the International Match Holding Company.

OIL MARKET NARROW

Quiet conditions prevailed in the Oil market, right from the start, but dealers hesitated to mark prices down, as there were few shares coming into the market. This step proved to be justified, for a small investment demand set in for first-class issues, such as Shells, Anglo-Iranians and Burmahs. Although no further news regarding the labour trouble in Vera Cruz was received during official hours, Mexican Eagles were a better market, and the greater part of the previous day's fall was recovered. Canadian Eagles also attracted modest support, and improved.

RUBBERS NEGLECTED

Rubber shares were neglected, business being on a very small scale and insufficient to make much impression upon prices. The only changes were small losses in Telegoredjo, United Sua Betong, Highlands and Anglo-Dutch. The Commodity, like the Share, market was quiet.

LONDON MINING MARKET

FIRMER UNDERTONE

A distinctly firmer tendency developed in the Mining market yesterday, but business generally was not on a large scale. Kaffirs made a somewhat irregular showing, but several specialities stood out prominently, and although Paris was still out of the picture, that centre being closed, the Cape paid particular attention to certain counters. Among these West Springs were again a feature, a further sharp rise being recorded, though no news came to hand to account for the movement. Randfontein were a better market, and although closing below the best were still higher on balance. Venterspost were harder, while East Geduld were something to the good on Cape demand. There was very little business passing in Rhodesians and Chartered, and one or two Gold shares had an easier tendency.

There was a fair amount of business in West Africans, but few actual changes were recorded, and these were mainly downward.

Australians remained in a State of neglect, and Wiluna and one or two others were lowered in the absence of demand. A slight setback in the price of the metal was made the excuse for lowering the price of Tin shares, practically all round.

The Bank of England announced the purchase of a further £1,506,541 in bar gold.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

With the French markets still closed for the National Fête celebrations conditions in the Foreign Exchange Market remained very quiet yesterday. Apart from the ordinary run of commercial transactions, business consisted of further covering operations by speculators. The trend was consequently adverse to London, the franc appreciating steadily to close materially firmer. There was no sign of official intervention at any time.

The two members of the crew of the Grimsby motor fishing vessel Girl Pat, Hector Harris and Howard Stephens, who landed at Southampton from New York on Monday morning, arrived at Grimsby last night. They declined to make any statement to newspaper representatives.

LAND IN ABYSSINIA

POLISH JEWS "SOLD"

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WARSAW, Tuesday.

The scheme of an enterprising merchant to "sell" plots in Abyssinia to local Jews was revealed to-day when police raided an office in which he had been installed. The premises were deserted, and numerous subscribers to the proposal have lost their hopes and their money.

The agent's claim to be acting for the Italian Government appears to be the origin of sensational reports which circulated here a few weeks ago, according to which Mussolini had offered land for colonisation in Abyssinia to Polish Jews.

He gave information about Mussolini's "offer" of a considerable part of Abyssinia to Jews on a freehold of 99 years. In return he took fees and gave receipts in the Italian language, with a rubber stamp of the "Abyssinian Colonisation Society."

ADVERTISING MEN IN OSLO

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

OSLO, Tuesday.

Continuing their Scandinavian tour, delegates of the Advertising Association arrive here to-day in the ss. Voltaire. During the luncheon, Mr. Gann, representing the Oslo municipality, said that, as a Socialist, he often wondered whether advertising was not superfluous. But he was now convinced that it was useful to uplift the standards of the people.

THE LATE MAJOR TODD-THORNTON

The funeral took place on July 9th, at Redford Cemetery, Greystones, of the late Major Daniel Todd-Thornton. It was largely attended by friends and residents of Glendalough, where Major Todd-Thornton had resided for the last ten years of his life, and where he was greatly beloved. A native of Donegal, he knew and loved both North and South. Much sympathy is felt for his widow and his sister in their loss.

Captain Miville

Captain Miville, the young Swiss officer who took up his quarters in Kilkenny last year, tells me that he has two horses entered in the forthcoming Horse Show. One he calls Rag-tag and the other Rainbow. On the last-named he intends to compete for the International Trophy—the Saorstat Gold Cup. It will be worth while, I should think, to watch Captain Miville ride in this competition; for he rides in continental fashion, with the forward seat. He learned his riding in the Italian Cavalry School at Rome, the greatest riding institution in the world. The forward seat was introduced by one Captain Caprilli, an Italian officer, in 1908. That officer died when only 30, but he left behind him ten pages of instruction, which became the foundation of the Italian Cavalry School technique.

Captain Miville was sent by the Swiss Government to the Italian Cavalry School in order to acquire the riding methods of that remarkable organisation. Here in Ireland he trains all his Irish-bred jumpers after those methods, and then sends them to the German and French Cavalry Schools. There's enterprise for you.

Open Windows

In the good old days the windows of mud cabins were made about eighteen or twenty inches square, and so firmly were they embedded in the wall that opening them was an impossibility, save by the breaking of the glass. In those days, also, a tax was levied on the windows of the well-to-do; evidently it was the attitude of the authorities at that time to at all costs discourage the use and enjoyment of fresh air. Old customs die hard, and there are still individuals who shrink from an open window, and it is only when medical authority steps in that they will timidly sample the virtues of fresh air with the caution with which they would approach an untried bottle of tonic. But such as these are in the minority, and even the poorest can appreciate the value of what can be procured for nothing. The new council cottages are fitted with admirable windows, many boasting the ventilator type, which provides a fresh current of air in all weather conditions. It is encouraging to note that everywhere one goes throughout the country open windows have become the order of the day, owners of more old-fashioned dwellings often removing the entire wooden sash during a spell of very hot, dry weather.

C.P.R. Jubilee

The famous Canadian Pacific Railway was celebrating its jubilee while its President was being made an Honorary Bencher of the Middle Temple in London. Sir Edward Wentworth Beatty, President of the famous railway, is the son of a Cavan man who emigrated to Canada while still a boy, but he was himself born in Ontario fifty-nine years ago. He is a Canadian K.C. and a Doctor of Laws, as well as being Chancellor of McGill University and president of a railway. Thirty-five years ago, after his call to the Bar, Sir Edward Beatty entered the service of the C.P.R. Legal Department, and has gradually earned his present exalted position in the railway world. It was on June 28th, 1886, that the first C.P.R. train steamed out of Montreal for the Pacific Coast, arriving at Port Moody on the morning of July 4th. The original engine, its driver, and the guard of the train, all figured in the jubilee celebrations, as did also the band of the Victoria Rifles, which played the first train away fifty years ago. The jubilee train will be fêted across the Continent, but its normal time is now considerably less than the week taken in 1886. The C.P.R. is now known throughout the world for its ships no less than its trains, and it is greatly interested in the development of the tourist traffic. It is this traffic which brought Sir Edward Beatty to London this year and to Ireland last year.

Expensive Ireland

I had a most illuminating conversation yesterday with an English visitor. He was walking—I refuse to use this wretched word "hiker"—through Ireland, and the interesting thing about him was that he was, so to speak, a professional: he took the weekly paper of his clan, he studied the question carefully; he was an "old hand." He told me that walkers and cyclists in these islands have found that the cheapest parts to travel in are the South and South-West of England, with South Wales a good second; then comes the North of England, and then Scotland: the most expensive of all is Ireland. The devoted cyclist and walker, however, I gathered, reckon to spend about two shillings a day—no more. They lunch on cheese and beer, and the idea of walking into a hotel for a three-and-sixpenny dinner never even occurs. At night they make for a farmer's house, and the wise indicate that they will eat with the family—this makes the fare simple and much cheaper. Here we have not yet realised, he pointed out, that the walker and cyclist desire this kind of modest fare and lodging, and are prudent and frugal folk. It costs them four pounds, perhaps, to get here—to begin—and, while the scenery is magnificent, the absence of the cheese-and-beer pub, the fewness of villages, and the popular idea that all holiday-makers are well-off are definite deterrents to his class.

"The Highway Code"

A friend in Belfast has sent me a copy of "The Highway Code," which is being delivered in Northern Ireland from door to door. The booklet, which is of convenient size for the pocket, gives illustrated explanations of all standard signals to be given by motorists and pointsmen, together with points from the North of Ireland Traffic Laws. Neither are the obligations of pedestrians omitted from the Highway Code; for, among other regulations, it is impressed upon them that, while walking on a road which has no footpath, it is their duty to walk on the right-hand side of the road.

The three "C's"—Care, Courtesy and Commonsense—are stated to form the basis of all rightful highway conduct. "Day and night, drive within your sight," makes good sense, if bad verse. No attempt is made in this book to limit speed in any way, apart from districts where special limits are imposed; but the suggestion is made that it is unsafe for vehicles to travel at their maximum speed, as, in an emergency, they have no acceleration to spare, while sudden braking is liable to impose a severe strain on the car. Thus twenty-five miles an hour may be unsafe for one car, whereas another may travel with greater safety at fifty or sixty. The unnecessary use of motor horns is also strongly condemned.

Foreign Postage Stamps

Not many people are so unobservant as to forget the appearance of the stamps of their own country, and though the colours may be similar the designs—at any rate on the stamps of our own country and that of Great Britain—are so different that a mistake rarely occurs. The other day the postman handed me a card on which he stated there was a fee of twopence due. He assured me that it was not stamped at all, and refused even to glance at the printed design in the top right-hand corner. Curiosity overcoming my scruples about spending money, I gave him the twopence and retained the card, only to find that it was stamped after all, it being a U.S.A. postal card bearing a green one cent print, the snag being that it was posted in Rathmines.

Early Perseids

Early arrivals of the Perseid meteor-shower may be looked for from the middle of July, when the absence of moonlight will be favourable for their observation, though they do not attain their greatest frequency till the following month. The 16th should prove a good night for meteors, as there is a fairly large maximum at 11 h., and on the 17th there is a secondary maximum at 9.50 p.m. Other maxima occur on the 19th, at 12.45 a.m. and 11.30 p.m. The morning of the 22nd furnishes a maximum at 2.45, and the night of the 23rd has another at 10.45. A maximum on the night of the 25th, at 10.25, falls at a favourable hour for furnishing some members of the Perseid display, while a larger one on the 29th, about 10.30 p.m., may prove even more satisfactory in this respect. The night of the 31st has another maximum, which falls close on midnight.

A Sportsman's Review

Irish Boxing Champion : What the Davis Cup Means : Useful Leinster Batsman

By PAUL DENIS.

Jim Warnock's Injury

Although at first sight the injury to Jim Warnock's jaw, which will prevent him from fulfilling his engagement with Pat Palmer in the world's fly-weight eliminator, would seem to be a tragic piece of bad luck, the reverse may actually be the case. The Belfast man is out of the game for three months, and in the meantime there is a strong move on foot in England to match Palmer with Benny Lynch for the latter's crown. If the fight takes place within three months, it is only logical that Warnock should meet the winner; for he has actually a considerably stronger claim for a title fight than has Palmer; for he has already gained a decision over the champion when the title was not at stake. It is quite certain at any rate that, provided Warnock makes a complete recovery from his injury, he will get his chance against either Lynch or Palmer, or both.

German Thoroughness

The Davis Cup is an important item in international sport. In fact, it is probably the most widespread contest in existence between nations throughout the world, and the winning of it is regarded as a great honour in most countries, but positively as a national duty in others. If thoroughness is a prelude to success, then Germany should have the trophy almost in their pockets. As if it was not sufficient for Von Cramm and Henkel to withdraw from the Wimbledon doubles championship when they had a fine chance of winning the title, the German team had to leave Zagreb immediately on the conclusion of their doubles match against Yugoslavia on the second day of the European final, as they had already won the tie. Thus, the Yugoslavian public were denied the chance of seeing a third day's play, comprising two interesting singles matches, because their opponents wanted to return to Wimbledon for practice at the earliest possible moment. When a single day is regarded as so important, the sporting nature of a contest takes a back seat.

BARON VON CRAMM.

F. J. Reddy's Success

The batting of the Irish cricket XI. was, on the whole, disappointing against the Indian team in the College Park last week, but F. J. Reddy is one man who can look back on the match with some satisfaction, as he alone made runs in both innings. He is a firm believer in the virtue of putting the bat hard against the ball, and he made his runs, both times, by attractive strokes. He revealed early promise at the Catholic University school, where he was a very hard-hitting batsman, and he gained a place on the Leinster Schools' Inter-provincial team. He immediately gained a place on the Leinster Club's Senior XI., and he has been one of their most useful and reliable bats ever since.

Keenness on Rowing

Rowing may not be the most interesting of sports to watch, but it certainly has a grip in this country. In the Metropolitan Regatta last week end, a crew from each of the four provinces competed in the Schools Cup, the prize going to Connaught in the end, and the keenness and enthusiasm of these boys was good to watch. The senior eights at the forthcoming Cork City Regatta ought to be worth watching also, for no fewer than seven crews are taking part—Cork, Lee, Limerick, New Ross, Corrib, Emmetts, Drogheda and Shannon. It is a pity that no Dublin clubs are making the journey for this race, but the competition between provincial oarsmen ought to be keen, and the sight, on the broad River Lee, a magnificent one. It will revive memories of the most notable regatta ever held in Ireland during the Tailteann Games of 1924, when an international entry was received.

Unassuming Tennis Player

Young Robert Mulliken must have enjoyed his first visit to Dublin. The young English tennis player showed a cheerful willingness to play in a thunderstorm if necessary, and although the conditions for play at Fitzwilliam during the Irish championships were depressing, to say the least of it, he beat two men, G. von Metaxa, of Austria, and C. M. Jones, of Kent, whom he could hardly have expected to overcome on a normal court; and his effort in reaching the final must have provided him with great encouragement. First-class tennis players have an aura like film stars about them, as they invariably seem to be followed by a ball boy struggling along with a massive case containing about a dozen brand new rackets, while to enter the court they are garbed in a dazzling array of blazers and sweaters. It was a pleasant change to see Mulliken wandering about Fitzwilliam with an ordinary brown tweed coat over an ordinary plain white sweater, and carrying one racket in a waterproof cover, just like any ordinary handicap player.

Kilkenny Cup for R. Hughes

While young Irish tennis players were shining at Fitzwilliam last week, a remarkable veteran was winning the Kilkenny men's singles cup for the fifth time. Richard Hughes has never aspired high in the tennis world here, but he has an imposing list of successes in country tournaments to his credit, and he has done a lot of good work for the game in Southern Ireland. He is not a stylist—in fact he appears at first glance to be a "rabbit"—but he has learnt the art of getting the ball over the net just once more often than the other man, and, despite increasing years, he never seems to feel fatigue. He is a fighter, too; for I remember him some four years ago defeating R. J. Sandys in the final of the Clonmel singles championship the week after the Trinity man had beaten him in straight sets at Tipperary.

Daily Programme Review

THE programme of the Station Orchestra for to-night has been arranged of music chosen to represent the four provinces. On this occasion P. J. O'Toole (tenor) will act as soloist, singing groups of songs in the course of the programme (Radio Athlone, 7.20).

At 9 (also from Radio Athlone) a discussion will take place between Mr. Turner Huggard, F.R.C.O., and Mr. J. Watson, B.A., Mus.Bac., A.R.C.O., on "Music Amongst the Young." The "Here Are Our Treasures" series will be continued to-night at 7 by a visit to the National Library. Dr. R. J. Hayes, Senior Assistant Librarian, will give an account of the most important treasures in the printed books and manuscripts departments of the library.

Musically, the most important broadcast to-night is that of the concert of modern music on the National wave-length. An interesting example in the programme is William Walton's "Facade," which is a musical setting to a number of Edith Sitwell's poems, which are spoken against the musical background. In the first instance Miss Sitwell spoke the verses herself, and from the first the work attracted attention because of its novelty. In to-night's version Constant Lambert, whose own Pianoforte Sonata precedes "Facade," will take the voice part. This is not a new rôle for Constant Lambert, in a recorded version of the work he partnered Miss Sitwell herself. The concert, which will be given by a chamber orchestra (conducted by Leslie Heward), with Tom Bromley playing solo pianoforte, is to be repeated on Friday afternoon.

To maintain an evening's listening one must choose from lighter fare. There is a repeat performance of "The Charcoal Burner's Son," by L. du Garde Peach and Victor Hely-Hutchinson (from National at 10), and Claud Hulbert and Bobbie Comber in another "Big Business" episode, at 9.15, on the same wave-length.

Concert parties include a relay from the Pavilion, Skerries, by Radio Athlone, at 8.15; "The Arcadian Follies," from the South Pier, Blackpool, coming on both North and Midland Regional wave-lengths at 9.25, preceded at 9 by Reginald Dixon at the organ of the Tower Ballroom, Blackpool.

"Sterner Stuff" is a new radio play by joint authors, who already have produced successful plays for broadcasting. They are Leonard J. Hines and Frank King, who in this instance make obstinacy and vanity the theme of their story. It will be produced in the North Regional programme by Jan Bussell.

Scottish Regional invites listeners (at 9.30) to a "Coastal Cruise," leaving Aberdeen and travelling by short route round the coast of Scotland, allowing time ashore at various ports. The excursion, in song, story, sketch and poem, will be conducted throughout.

ENGLISH BOY'S ADVENTURE

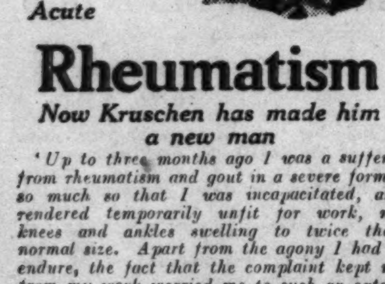

WALKING TOUR CUT SHORT

The adventures of a fourteen-year-old London boy, who landed at the North Wall, Dublin, on Sunday morning last with a penny in his pocket, toured Dublin and walked to Balbriggan, were disclosed yesterday. After calling at the local Civic Guard barracks late on Sunday night and eating his first meal since Saturday afternoon, he informed the Guards that he was going to write a book about his experiences. He is Patrick Joseph Gorner, of Rodenhurst road, Clapham, London, and he has been brought back to Dublin by an uncle.

According to his own story, the boy is a son of a professor of modern languages in a London college, who at present is on a holiday in Spain. On Saturday morning the lad left his London home, telling his mother that he was going to a local cricket match. He boarded a train for Liverpool, crossed over by the night British and Irish Steam Packet Co.'s boat, and spent Sunday sight-seeing in Dublin. "O'Connell street is far more beautiful than any London street," he afterwards remarked.

Gorner had no money for meals. He left Dublin in the afternoon to walk along the coast. After passing through Malahide he took to the railway lines, and continued on through Donabate and Lusk, and thence to Skerries, where he took to the road again, and arrived at the Balbriggan Civic Guard barracks, in pouring rain, at 11 p.m. on Sunday. The Guards gave him a meal, after which he informed them that he meant to walk to County Armagh, where he had relations. "I am going to write a book of my experiences and impressions in the Free State," he added.

The Guards telephoned to the Clapham police, who communicated with Mrs. Gorner. A reply was received that the boy had an uncle in Dublin, and Gorner's adventures came to an end when the uncle took him to Dublin yesterday.

Acute

Rheumatism

Now Kruschen has made him a new man

'Up to three months ago I was a sufferer from rheumatism and gout in a severe form—so much so that I was incapacitated, and rendered temporarily unfit for work, my knees and ankles swelling to twice their normal size. Apart from the agony I had to endure, the fact that the complaint kept me from my work worried me to such an extent that I nearly had a nervous breakdown. I had read your Kruschen advertisements from time to time sceptically, but eventually decided to try your salts. I was not cured in a night, but from the first dose a decided improvement took place, and has continued to do so, in so far that after about a fortnight I was relieved from the agonising pains and since that time ('touching wood') have never had a recurrence of them. I now regularly take the little early morning dose of Kruschen and feel a new man.'

July 1st, 1936. L. B., Gt. Yarmouth.

The pains of rheumatism are caused by sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as a result of sluggish elimination. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system. The six mineral salts in Kruschen are bound to dissolve away all traces of uric acid deposits. And more! They ensure such complete elimination—such perfect internal regularity that no such poisons as uric acid are ever able to accumulate again.

Tasteless in Tea.

NO INCREASE IN PRICE. The large bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts three months) still costs only 1/9. Do not pay more.

DUBLIN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

IRISH INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH

The monthly meeting of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce was held on Monday, last, with the President (Mr. John O'Neill) in the chair.

Before commencing business the President referred to the loss the business community had sustained through the death of Mr. Hugh Kennedy, who had been a member of the Chamber since 1894, and had acted on the Council during the years 1928 to 1933. A vote of sympathy with the relatives was passed, all the members standing.

After receiving a report on the resolutions passed at the annual general meeting of the Association of Chambers of Commerce of the Irish Free State, the President drew attention to the report of the Industrial Research Council. The Council had been set up to assist manufacturers in the Irish Free State, but so far they had not received the expected number of enquiries from these manufacturers.

Mr. J. C. M. Eason said that possibly this was due to the fact that many industries had their own arrangements for research work in connection with their particular industry. Even in these cases the establishment of contact with the individual employers was of slow growth. Perhaps the advantages offered by the Irish Industrial Research Council were not widely enough known, and the Chamber might find some means of giving it publicity.

The Secretary was directed to communicate with the trade associations likely to be affected by the legislation which the Minister for Industry and Commerce stated would shortly be introduced.

A number of bills at present before the Dail were referred to the various sub-committees for report.

THE NATIONAL CORPORATE PARTY

WIDE RANGE OF SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION

The annual congress of the National Corporate Party will be held in the Rathmines Town Hall on Saturday next, beginning at 2.30 p.m.

Sixty-five notices of motion have been received, covering a wide range of subjects extending from the care and maintenance of by-roads to the restoration of the referendum. Withdrawal from the League of Nations is proposed on the grounds that membership under present conditions is detrimental to national prestige, and that the grant of £17,000 towards its upkeep is wasted.

The establishment of a munitions factory is urged, as is also the development of civil aviation. Protest is made as to prominence in cities and towns of monuments and statues commemorating British rule in Ireland, and the repeal of the remaining Acts of the Penal Laws is called for. The restoration of University representation in the Dail is proposed, while Cork calls on congress to extend its congratulations to Mussolini. There are two resolutions dealing with Communism, and objection is taken to the employment of the wives of professional men and others of independent means by Government Departments and other institutions, to the detriment of competent clerical workers who are thus forced to exist on outdoor relief.

TAXATION OF MOTOR CARS

The abolition of motor car tax and the substitution therefor of a tax on petrol is recommended, as is also the repeal of that portion of the Transport Act giving a monopoly of road transport to the railway companies. The employment of foreigners in key positions in industries is down for criticism.

The Government is blamed for allowing the Lough Foyle fisheries dispute to drift, and there is a motion urging the supply of up-to-date fishing gear to fishermen, and their training in deep sea fishing. The principles of social credit as a basis for our financial and economic policy will be under discussion, and the question of the substitution for the dole of a national scheme of public works, construction of tourist and coastal roads, improvement of our seaside resorts, drainage, etc., is being raised.

There are various motions dealing with Labour in the Corporative State.

THE AGRICULTURAL SIDE

The motions on the agricultural side cover a wide field, and include the economic war, land annuities, restoration of the markets, security of tenure, de-rating, division of ranches, increased tillage, frozen debts, State loans to farmers, fixed prices for agricultural produce, growing of spring wheat, position of agricultural labourers and increased plot acreage, Agricultural Guarantee Fund Act, change in system of rate collection, etc.

In addition there are motions dealing with organisation and finance. County Cavan proposes that the Director-General be asked to make a tour of the United States, with the object of organising support for the movement there, and the raising of funds for its maintenance in Ireland.

THE ROYAL ARTILLERY ASSOCIATION

AN OUTING TO HOWTH

Mr. J. McLoughlin (hon. treasurer) reported favourably on the financial side of the Branch, and urged all members to subscribe towards the banner which is on order. Any surplus accruing will be devoted to the R.A. Benevolent Fund.

It was unanimously agreed to hold an outing to Howth on Saturday afternoon, the 25th inst., the following members being elected to make all arrangements:—Messrs. Wisdom, Maypotter, Maguire, Mahon, Hamilton, Ogilvey and J. McGrath. 7 good reasons why corn flour is better than flour for sauce

1. Cooks in half the time of flour — saves fuel
2. Much easier to mix than flour.
3. Gives a creamy texture and rich, glossy finish.
4. Never any lumps, much smoother than flour.
5. With corn flour you need to use only half as much. No lumps to strain out — so no waste.
6. Brings out flavour better than flour.
7. Brown & Polson Patent Corn Flour is ALL pure nourishment.

AND HERE'S ANOTHER GOOD TIP — for Summer Sweets

YOU KNOW how hard it is to give the family things they like in hot weather! They rebel against solid-looking sweets—yet they need something to carry them through the long, busy days.

That's where blancmanges and other corn flour sweets come in. They look so cool and dainty. Yet scientists have proved that they have a very high food value. In fact they give just the energy-building elements we need. Here are just two of the many tempting and summery things you can make with Brown & Polson Patent Corn Flour. Don't they look delicious? You try them.

PEACH DELIGHT.

Small tin sliced peaches. 1½ ozs. Brown & Polson Patent Corn Flour. 1 oz. sugar. Little lemon juice. Few drops cochineal. About ½ pint milk.

Rub the peaches through a sieve with their syrup. Measure the quantity and make it up to 1 pint with milk. Put into a pan with the sugar and heat all slowly. Blend the corn flour smoothly with 2 tablespoonfuls cold milk. Add to the liquid in the pan before it boils and stir till boiling point is reached. Cook for 2 minutes. Remove from the heat, add lemon juice and a few drops of cochineal to bring up the colour. Turn into a wetted mould to set.

TEA DAINTIES.

4 ozs. plain flour. 1 oz. Brown & Polson Patent Corn Flour. 4 ozs. sugar. 3 ozs. melted butter. 2 eggs. 2 tablespoonfuls milk. 1 teaspoonful baking powder.

Sift flour, corn flour, sugar and baking powder together. Melt the butter, add to beaten eggs and milk. Add to dry ingredients, mixing all well. Turn into a shallow greased tin and bake in a moderate oven 20-25 minutes. Turn on to a wire tray to cool. When quite cold, ice with glacé icing, and when the icing has set, cut the cake into 20 pieces and decorate each as desired.

GLACE ICING

½ lb. icing sugar. Colouring and flavouring as liked. Cold milk to mix. Sift the icing sugar and mix to a coating consistency with the milk.

SPECULATIVE BUILDERS

LIABILITY FOR INCOME TAX

IMPORTANT DECISION IN SUPREME COURT

RESERVED judgment was delivered unanimously allowing the appeal that was brought on behalf of Denis Delany, of Ballymun road, Dublin, from a majority judgment given in the High Court in an appeal that came before that Court by way of a case stated by Circuit Court Judge Davitt.

The appeal raised the question whether, before the coming into operation of Section 6 of the Finance Act, 1935, Mr. Delany, who was admittedly carrying on the business of a speculative builder, must include in the receipts from his business fines taken by him on the sale of houses where such sales are carried out by way of lease or sub-lease and the capitalised value of profit rents created by him.

Mr. Delany had appealed to the Commissioners for the Special Purposes of the Income Tax Acts from assessments to income tax made by Mr. A. G. Birch, Inspector of Taxes, under Schedule D in respect of the profits of his trade as a builder during the years from 1929-30 to 1932-33. His appeal was dismissed, and he appealed to the Circuit Court.

APPELLANT'S CASE

It was submitted on behalf of Mr. Delany that the operation of acquiring land, erecting houses thereon, and subsequently subdemising the houses with the creation of an increased ground rent appropriate to the site of the house did not amount to the carrying on of a trade of creating ground rents, nor did such operation constitute the buying and selling of land so as to attract liability to income tax; that the fines taken on the granting of the sub-lease in each case were not receipts in the course of Mr. Delanys trade as a builder; that the capitalised value of the increased ground rents created by such sub-leases represented rents appropriate to the land itself, and could not be said to be receipts of such trade; and that such capitalised value, not having been realised, could not be said to be the profits of any particular year.

On behalf of the Inspector of Taxes it was submitted that Mr. Delany, carrying on his operations as a speculative builder, was liable to bring in the total of the fines as representing the price of the work done by him in his trade; that all ground rents have a commercial value, and that money's worth is tavable if it can be valued at a certain sum, and that Mr. Delany created a right to receive annual sums for a period which, if taken as a capital value for a number of years and added to the fine paid, represented his total selling price of a house to which it related, and was a receipt in the course of his trade.

Judge Davitt, in his determination, stated that, though Mr. Delany would be liable to income tax as carrying on a trade in respect of the houses which he sold, and the profit to him from such sale, he was of opinion that in respect of houses which Mr. Delany built and let on long-term leases, subject to a fine and ground rent, he was not so liable, and could not be regarded as carrying on a trade. He held that Mr. Delany was not liable to be assessed under Schedule D in respect of the amount of the fines or of a capitalised value of the ground rents received by him in respect of the houses constructed in the course of his building operations.

A FORMER DECISION

The Inspector of Taxes appealed from the determination of the Circuit Judge to the High Court, and two of the three High Court Judges who heard the appeal, being of opinion that the Inspector of Taxes was right, sent the case back to the Circuit Judge, and Mr. Delany now appealed to the Supreme Court from the judgment of the High Court.

Mr. FitzGibbon, K.C., and Mr. Newett (instructed by Messrs. Shannon and Co.) appeared for Mr. Delany; and Mr. McCann, K.C., and Mr. Geraghty (instructed by Mr. B. Collins) for the Inspector of Taxes.

THE JUDGMENT

The Chief Justice said that he agreed with the judgment which was about to be read by Mr. Justice FitzGibbon, and had nothing to add to it.

Mr. Justice FitzGibbon, in his judgment, said that the question involved was one of great importance, affecting both the taxpayer and the Inland Revenue to a very considerable amount, but it had been deprived of all effect upon future transactions by recent legislation, which, as they had been told, settled the law in accordance with the decision of the High Court. That did not, however, absolve the present Court from the duty to decide the question of law under appeal.

Having recited the material facts which raised the question of law, Mr. Justice FitzGibbon said that, with all respect for the opinions of the majority in the High Court, it appeared to him that they had ignored some of the fundamental principles of the Income Tax Acts. It had been established, once for all, by the House of Lords that income tax, under whatever schedule it happened to be charged, was one tax. It was clear that, as there was only one tax, if the tax be charged upon the property or the profits or gains comprised in one schedule, it could not also be charged upon the property or the profits or gains comprised in another schedule; for that would lead to double taxation in respect of the same subject matter.

Considering the question whether the profits and gains arising out of the adventure of Mr. Delany were, as the Revenue Commissioners and the majority of the High Court had held, profits of a trade charged under Schedule D., or whether his liability to income tax in respect of property in lands, tenements and hereditaments under Schedule A., covered these profits and gains, Mr. Justice FitzGibbon said that Mr. Delany derived no profits or gains from any source other than his ownership of lands and tenements. He took land upon lease for a long term at a rent, and upon those lands he grew houses as another man might grow pigs or potatoes, but his profits and gains were derived exclusively from dealing with his property in lands and tenements, and, if those profits exceeded the annual poor law valuation, and so escaped taxation pro tanto, his partial immunity was due to the inadequacy of the machinery for estimating the annual value of the property to be taxed.

Mr. Delany traded with, and not upon, the tenements he owned, and the profits derived by him from trade of that description—if it could be called a trade—were covered by and taxed upon the annual value of the tenements ascertained by the Commissioners of Valuation. The Commissioners of Inland Revenue were not without remedy if the value upon which the tax was assessed happened to be abnormally low.

In his opinion, the error which underlay the majority opinions of the High Court was that each of them ignored the question of liability to tax upon what Lord Warrington of Clyffe called "the conventional annual value" of the lands, and devoted attention to what Lord Tomlin called "the irrelevant question, whether the landlord in fact received by way of rent more or less than, or the same as, the assessed annual value." They considered whether Mr. Delany was, or was not, carrying on a trade as if an affirmative answer disposed of the case, when the real question was whether he was assessable upon the subject matter of his trade—if it was a trade—irrespective of whether he made a profit or not. If the Commissioners of Valuation had quadrupled the Poor Law value of Mr. Delany's property, Mr. Delany would have had to pay income tax under Schedule A upon the value, whether he let his house or not. Not only that, but under the recent Finance Act he would have been assessed to income tax upon an arbitrary 25 per cent. increase upon the certified annual value of his tenements.

"FUNDAMENTAL FALLACY"

The fundamental fallacy of the majority judgment of the High Court was, concluded Mr. Justice FitzGibbon, the assumption that if an adventure could be described as a trade its profits must be charged by, and assessable under, Schedule D, and could not be charged by or assessable in accordance with Schedule A or B, although they, in fact, arose out of the ownership or occupation of land, tenements and hereditaments, and the disregard of the fact that many great adventures to which the description "trade" could be applied more accurately than that of Mr. Delany's were, in fact, charged in this country under those schedules, and that profits and gains identical with those derived by Mr. Delany from the ownership of his lands were, in fact, expressly charged by the same statute in England under Schedule A, the only difference in the case of Ireland being that the method of computing the annual value was based upon Poor Law valuation instead of on the actual amount of rack rent and fines.

In his opinion, the decision of the Circuit Judge was correct and should be restored, and this appeal should be allowed.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan agreed.

The Court accordingly allowed the appeal, discharged the judgment of the High Court, and restored the judgment of the Circuit Judge, with costs of the High Court and costs of the appeal.

RESIGNATION ON MARRIAGE

CAVAN BOARD'S ORDER QUESTIONED

MINISTER FOR LOCAL GOVERNMENT SUED

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

THE hearing of an action of Mrs. Jean McCabe, the County Home, Cavan, against the Minister for Local Government and Public Health and the County Cavan Board of Health and Public Assistance was begun.

The plaintiff's claim is for a declaration that her office of Public Health Nurse for the Co. Cavan has not been validly terminated on her marriage by the defendants or either of them. She stated that she was appointed by the Cavan Board of Health on the 15th September, 1930, to the office of Public Health Nurse for the County of Cavan, and that by resolution passed by the Board of Health on the 27th November, 1934, that Board wrongfully and without just cause purported to remove her from the office, and directed their secretary to call on her to resign. She alleged that the resolution was ultra vires, inoperative and invalid.

By a letter of the 23rd January, 1935, the Minister for Local Government consented, she further stated, to her removal from office, and she alleged that this order was ultra vires, and she alternatively pleaded that the consent of the Minister for Local Government was not obtained in the manner required by the order.

The plaintiff also asks for an inquiry regarding what sums are due to her by the Cavan Board of Health, and a further declaration that she still holds the office of Public Health Nurse for the Co. Cavan.

The defence of the Minister for Local Government and Public Health denies that the Board of Health removed her wrongfully, and denies that the resolution calling on the plaintiff to resign was ultra vires, and that the consent of the Minister was not obtained in the manner required by the order.

The Minister also contended that he never removed the plaintiff from office, but said that, if he did, he was entitled to do so in his capacity as Minister for Local Government and Public Health.

BOARD'S DEFENCE

The Board of Health, in their defence, denied that they removed the plaintiff from office, and they denied that the resolution of the 27th November, 1934, was ultra vires. They admit that no payment has been made to the plaintiff in respect of salary since November 30, 1934, and they alternatively, plead that they duly terminated the employment of the plaintiff by their resolution of the 27th November, 1934, with the consent of the Minister.

Mr. Lavery, K.C.; Mr. Michael Binchy, K.C., and Mr. McGonigal (instructed by Messrs. L. C. P. Smith and Co.) appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Gavan Duffy, K.C.; Mr. William Black, K.C., and Mr. W. P. Fay (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) for the Minister for Local Government and Public Health; and Mr. Geoghegan, K.C.; Mr. McGuckin, K.C., and Mr. F. M. Duffy (instructed by Messrs. Breen and Co.) for the Co. Cavan Board of Health.

"SUFFICIENT GROUNDS"

Permission was granted, on the application of Mr. Gavan Duffy, for the Minister for Local Government to amend his defence by the addition of the following paragraph: "In the alternative this defendant will submit that the plaintiff was removed from office on sufficient grounds—that is to say, by reason of her having become a married woman."

Mr. Cecil Lavery, opening the case for the plaintiff, mentioned that since the commencement of the proceedings plaintiff had become a widow. There was nothing in the terms of Mrs. McCabe's appointment to suggest that marriage would be a bar to her continuing to hold the office, and there were dozens of married women all over the country occupying similar posts. By virtue of the Local Government Act, 1925, the powers of dismissing officers of local authorities became vested in the Minister for Local Government, and it was contended for the plaintiff that the Minister was not competent to delegate those powers.

When the plaintiff married she wrote to the Board informing them of the fact, and when her letter was considered on July 23rd, 1934, it was marked "Approved." Following that, a letter was received from the Secretary to the Department for Local Government and Public Health to the effect that, "in accordance with the usual practice, Mrs. McCabe should be called on to resign," and suggesting that steps be taken to fill the vacancy. The Board's order on that letter was to ask the Minister to sanction the continued employment of Mrs. McCabe, stating that they considered her to be a most efficient officer and were of opinion that her marriage would not interfere with the carrying out of her official work. To that resolution the Department replied: "I am directed by the Minister to point out that the office of public health nurse is a whole-time position and that he cannot alter his decision as to the necessity for her resignation. I am to add that the Minister is not prepared to approve of her appointment after the 30th November." The Board made the following order on consideration of that letter: "That Mrs. McCabe be informed that this letter has made it impossible for the Board to continue payment of her salary after the 30th inst., and they regretted that they must ask for her resignation, and accordingly terminated her appointment on the 30th inst., as requested by the Minister." Mrs. McCabe was notified accordingly, and she replied refusing to resign.

PLAINTIFF'S EVIDENCE

Mrs. Jean McCabe, the plaintiff, was examined by Mr. Binchy and said that before her appointment, which was made by the Appointments Commissioners, she was not asked whether she was married or single.

Mr. Justice Meredith—Were you informed that not being married was a condition of your being appointed?—I was not.

Or that if you became married while holding office, that would be a disqualification?—No; I was not told anything about that.

At the conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence

Mr. Gavan Duffy, for the Minister for Local Government, said that he would argue that the Board of Health had full control over the plaintiff while she was in their employment. Under the Local Government code the Board were absolute masters, and could dismiss at a moment's notice certain classes of officials, and the class of position held by the plaintiff was one of those. Side by side with that, and paramount to it in case of conflict, was the Poor Law code, in which the local authority could dismiss only with the permission of the Minister. In the case of Mrs. McCabe it was unnecessary for the Minister to consent to her removal from office at all, although he had done so.

The further hearing was adjourned until to-day.

PIGS AND BACON ACT

IRISH SEASIDE RESORTS

VERY LITTLE DONE FOR THEM

When the question of providing sanitary arrangements at Portmarnock arose at the Dublin Board of Health yesterday, Mr. W. Rollins said that it was a disgrace to see the condition of the Irish seaside resorts, which were, perhaps, the finest in the world. What was being done for people frequenting these resorts, or to attract tourist traffic, he asked. So far as he could see, they were doing very little, although they should be doing all they could to encourage the tourist industry.

In the English holiday places and elsewhere every amenity was provided, even though they were often inferior to our own Irish resorts.

DUBLIN COUNTY BOARD OF HEALTH

ELECTION OF CHAIRMAN

At the Dublin County Board of Health yesterday, Mr. J. T. Ennis was re-elected Chairman for the ensuing year, and Mr. John Dowling was re-elected Vice-Chairman.

Mr. J. J. Clare protested on behalf of Fianna Fail against the Constitution of the Board. His party had the largest following in the rural area, he said, and it was, therefore, entitled to more than two out of a total of ten on the Board. He had had dealings with Mr. Ennis in connection with the business of the old Board, and he had been treated with a courtesy and civility which he appreciated.

Mr. Ennis, returning thanks, said that the Board's only concern was the housing, health and welfare of the people, no matter what their politics might be.

WELFARE OF THE PEOPLE

NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE

NEW COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT

TWO years ago the Minister for Local Government and Public Health (Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly) opened formally the National Health Insurance Society's offices at Arus Brugha, O'Connell street, Dublin. Yesterday the Provisional Committee of management officially transferred their functions over to the new Committee of Management, the members of which were formally introduced to the staff by the Minister.

The members of the staffs met yesterday morning, and the Minister, after inspecting the building, was introduced to them by Mr. D. J. O'Donovan, Chairman of the outgoing Provisional Committee.

Mr. O'Kelly said that he was delighted to see the progress made since he had visited the building for the opening ceremony. Mr. O'Donovan, Mr. Kavanagh and Mr. Keady had completed the work of unification of the national health societies of the country, and they had carried out their work exceedingly well. He said that he would like, in the name of the Government and of the societies concerned, to pay public tribute to the manner in which they had laid the foundation for a new national health insurance organisation, which was going to do so much for the social well-being of the country.

Mr. O'Kelly said that the work upon which they were engaged was not the ordinary humdrum work of an ordinary office. Every aspect of it was wrapped up in some way with the well-being of the community.

The Most Rev. Dr. Dignan, Bishop of Clonfert, Chairman of the new Committee, said that the new Committee's first interest would be for the workers throughout the country, and their second for the staff. As Chairman, he would have no other interest in view.

Mr. Reddy, Chairman of the Welfare Committee, returned thanks on behalf of the staffs, and conveyed their thanks to the Minister for the superannuation scheme, which had brought to them a sense of security.

Mr. O'Donovan spoke of his regret at leaving and of the friendliness of the staffs during his period of office.

THE LUNCHEON

At the luncheon which followed, Mr. O'Donovan proposed the toast of "Eire," with which he coupled the name of the representative of the State.

Replying, Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly said that if there was one organisation in the country which had the welfare of the people at heart it was the National Health Insurance Society. The prosperity of Ireland and the prosperity of the Society were synonymous. No organisation in the country had a more widespread membership.

The work of the National Health Insurance Society and the work of the Committee would have an intimate effect on the future history of the country. The Society would aid materially the progress of the people towards health, happiness and prosperity.

Everybody was agreed, he said, that Ireland should be free, and would be free; that she should be a united country, and that she should, and would, be a prosperous country. Prosperity would come, at any rate.

They could safely feel that national health insurance and the success and prosperity of Ireland were secure in the hands of the new committee, under the patronage of the Most Rev. Dr. Dignan.

Mr. P. J. Ready proposed the toast of "The new Committee of Management."

Supporting, Mr. R. Henderson, Secretary of the Society, said that the provisional committee had safely guided the Society through its earlier vicissitudes.

The new committee, he believed, had to face a difficult situation. They had, he added, endeavoured to keep in complete harmony with the medical profession and with the hospitals.

The Society brought to every claim the greatest possible measure of human sympathy, and, if necessary, they would expend that sympathy in favour of the members, so far as their duty and consciences would permit.

RESPONSIBILITIES

Replying to the toast, the Most Rev. Dr. Dignan said that they realised their responsibilities, and were prepared to go as far as the Minister would allow them to make a real success of health insurance in the country. He could assure the Minister that the only reason he had for accepting the chairmanship of the new committee was that he had persuaded himself that he could play some part in infusing a more Christian spirit into the relations which ought to exist between the worker and the employer.

"I do honestly believe that in a Christian Catholic country like ours the only principles that will bring peace and prosperity are the principles of Christianity, Christian social justice and charity."

He held that there was an extraordinary field in which these principles could be cultivated in the National Health Insurance Society. Anything which they could do for the poor, the unfortunate and the sick would be done. He trusted that in a few years' time when there was a new valuation they would be able to give extra benefits and yet more benefits.

SUCCESS

He was convinced that the new Committee would make a success of the Society, and he believed no sectional interests would be displayed, but that all would unite for the good of the Society and of the country as a whole.

Mr. W. J. Kavanagh proposed, and Mr. M. P. O'Donnell supported the toast of "Our Guests."

Responding to the toast of "Our Guests," Mr. J. A. McCarron, Controller, referred to th deficiency of £46,000 disclosed in the valuation. The Provisional Committee had nothing whatsoever to do with that deficiency, he said. The sum of £46,000 might seem a very small deficiency in itself, after 25 years of working, with a turn-over of about a million pounds a year. In the period, however, from 1928 to 1933 the valuation position of the Society had worsened by half-a-million pounds alone. If that were to continue until 1938, when the next valuation would be taken, the Society would be faced with a deficiency which might give some trouble in solving, and might lead to the position that certain unwelcome sections of the Act relating to increased contributions, and a lessening of the benefits, would have to be resorted to.

COMMITTEE'S TASK

The task of the committee in considering that matter was serious. Expenditure in some cases had been higher than was anticipated. Expenditure on disablement benefit for men had been twice the amount expected, and expenditure on women's disablement benefit had been four times the amount expected.

But for unification, however, 50 per cent. of the members would have had to have paid an increased contribution, and suffered reduced benefits, and the other 50 per cent. would have obtained additional benefit. Unification had made the scheme national.

The new committee consists of fifteen persons, seven appointed by the Minister for Local Government—a chairman, three trustees and three representatives of employers—and eight members, representative of insured persons, three being nominated by the Irish Trade Union Congress, and five elected by delegates from insured persons in the various counties and county boroughs.

KING'S REPLY TO BELFAST ORANGEMEN

The following telegram was received by Sir Joseph Davison, Grand Master of Belfast Orangemen, in reply to the message sent to the King from the Finaghy demonstration on Monday:—

"I am commanded by the King to convey to Belfast Orangemen assembled to-day at Woodlands His Majesty's sincere appreciation of their loyal assurances.—(Signed), Private Secretary."

SAORSTAT INDUSTRIES

A NEW LIAISON OFFICER

At the meeting of the Council of the Federation of Saorstat Industries, Ltd., held on Friday last a letter was read from the Minister for Industry and Commerce intimating that Mr. J. Cassidy had been appointed a liaison officer between that Department and the Council of the Federation. Mr. Cassidy was present at the meeting and was heartily welcomed by the President and introduced to all the members of the Council present. Various matters affecting the interests of members of the Federation were discussed with Mr. Cassidy and arrangements made to have some causes of complaints and doubt removed or ameliorated.

The Council are sorry to lose the services of Mr. J. Williams, who has acted as liaison officer for the past two years, and had at all times shown the greatest courtesy and affability in attending to the interests of members of the Federation. Mr. Williams has now been placed in charge of a very important section of the work of the Department of Industry and Commerce.

The Council wished him all success.

The activities of the Federation have now grown to such an extent that the obtaining of new offices had become an urgent necessity, and arrangements were made at the meeting to procure offices suitable to the importance of the work which the Federation has to perform on behalf of the national manufacturers of Saorstat Eireann. These offices have been obtained in a central location, and in due course all members will be notified.

"GUARDS MIGHT CLOSE ONE EYE"

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

WATERFORD, Tuesday.

Summonses against John McGurk, Thomas Sparks and Wilfred Liddon, amusement caterers, for allowing illegal games were dismissed by District Justice McCabe at Tramore District Court to-day.

The Justice referred to Judge Sealy's comment last week in confirming a "Wheel-Em-In" conviction against McGurk, and said that he agreed with the judge's opinion that the Civic Guards might close one eye to harmless breaches of the law like this.

Superintendent Dennihy, prosecuting, said that if the defendants gave an undertaking to discontinue the games the prosecutions would be withdrawn, but if they carried on in defiance of the law he would ask for a heavy penalty.

The District Justice said that if the Guards had received a circular from the Attorney-General he would make a shrewd guess that if read with sense would be found to be directed against games of chance such as roulette. There was no evidence before him that the prosecution had established the case that these were games of chance. To pretend that there was something extraordinary in people throwing a few pennies on a board was absurd and ridiculous.

The Chinese "Rebels"

Once again China is torn by those dissensions which always seem to afflict her in her hour of greatest need. Some time ago, as our readers will remember, the semi-independent Government at Canton decided to take strong measures against Japan; it mobilised large forces from its provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi, and set out northwards. This defiance placed the Central Government at Nanking in a distressing dilemma. If, on the one hand, it should endorse its subsidiary's defiance of the Japanese, and should join up with the Cantonese forces, Japan would be provided with a heaven-sent excuse to declare war upon China generally, and to snatch a few more provinces, if not the entire country. On the other hand, if Nanking should refuse to join the rebel provinces of the South-West, there was grave danger that it would forfeit the loyalty of those thousands of Chinese who are anxious to expel the Japanese invader from their territory. Nanking chose the latter course. The Central Government decided for peace with Japan, and immediately despatched an army southwards to stop the march of the Kwangtung-Kwangsi forces. Simultaneously General Chiang Kai-shek, the Nanking Premier, approached Canton, and established certain diplomatic "contacts" whose effect was to destroy the unity of the Southern counsels. In a word, while his army was driving the rebels home again he himself contrived to drive a wedge between the two recalcitrant provinces. So astute was his diplomacy that there was a widespread hope that the long-standing breach between Canton, in the south, and Nanking, in the north, would be healed, and that China would be able to present the semblance of a united front to the Japanese. Indeed, the news of the last few weeks has suggested that the South-West Provinces have been ready to return to their old allegiance. Only one person of real consequence has put up any sort of resistance to reunion; but that person, as it happens, is one whose opinion matters.

General Chen Chi-tang has been virtual dictator of Canton for many years past, as well as Commander-in-Chief of its forces, and is in no mind to relinquish his sovereignty to the Central Government. He has held out with stubbornness against General Chiang Kai-shek's overtures, and at present is making frantic efforts to maintain the South-West's autonomy. Three days ago the Central Government, assuming the fidelity of the two Cantonese provinces, issued an ordinance abolishing the South-Western Political Council, which has ruled them ever since the original split, and depriving General Chen Chi-tang of his command. The bold general refuses to accept this decree. He has appealed to the loyalty of the Kwangtung Second Army, and has begun to march northwards against Nanking. With his Second Army, reinforced by a few ragged remnants of his former commands, the general is constituting what he calls an "anti-Japanese allied army." Unfortunately, he seems unable to collect an imposing force; for not only the Kwangtung First Army, but many of those troops from the two provinces who were clamouring most loudly a few weeks ago for Japanese blood, have decided that discretion is the better part of valour, and have deserted, in order to join up with the Nanking forces. At the moment General Chen Chi-tang's northward march has been stopped by the Kwangtung First Army, commanded by General Yu Han-mou, whom Nanking has appointed to succeed General Chen Chi-tang as generalissimo of the South-West. The rebel general, however, apparently retains his spirit of obstinacy. He has summoned the tattered relics of Cantonese independence, and has refused, once for all, to acknowledge Nanking. His refusal probably will last for the few days which it will take General Yu Han-mou to reach Canton. It is questionable, indeed, if he will hold out even so long; for desertion, once it has been started in a Chinese army, is inclined to continue in geometrical progression.

The Japanese, we may be certain, are keeping a vigilant eye upon these moves and counter-moves. Probably they are not too pleased at the probability of a reunion between Nanking and Canton; for the division between the two has been a terrible source of weakness to China in recent years. It has been suggested that Canton's "mobilisation" against Japan was encouraged by Japanese agents provocateurs, to provide an excuse for a further advance into North China; but, even if this somewhat unlikely tale is untrue, there is no doubt that the Japanese welcomed it. They hardly can have anticipated that General Chiang Kai-shek would take such rapid and decisive action, or that the result of the "mobilisation" would be the unifying of China, and their disappointment must be profound. Henceforward their business will be to find a new excuse for aggrandisement at China's expense. Of late they have contented themselves with the peaceful penetration of the province of East Hopei, which is expected shortly to declare its allegiance to the Emperor of Manchukuo—that is to say, to the Emperor of Japan—but it is only a question of time until they strike further southwards. Will China be able to offer any sort of resistance? If General Chiang Kai-shek really contrives to disembarrass himself of trouble from the South-west provinces and to rally them to his standard, he certainly will enjoy an advantage which has been denied him for many years. Yet the result of the struggle can only be postponed. Japan is determined to absorb China, not so much for any material benefit that she may derive therefrom as for the world prestige which she will enjoy as head of the Empire of Eastern Asia. That ambition, we think, surpasses even her desire to make contact with Russia over a thousand-mile front. So long as Japan's lordship is confined to a few small islands, she is in the position of Great Britain without the British Empire; but, when she can speak for the vast expanse of China and the hundreds of millions of Chinese, she will be a world Power in every sense. Will Europe and America tolerate her rise?

Rural Schools

Clare seems to have been the first county to discover a new use for the vocational education scheme. At a meeting of the local committee yesterday, Mr. J. Kirwan pointed out that there was no reason why every suitable centre in the county should not have its "rural school," and he went on to make such a strong case for the idea that a special committee has been appointed to work out the details. Under the Vocational Education Act, Mr. Kirwan said, the Clare Committee could get a loan from the Board of Works for the building of these schools, and the County Council would be able to strike a special rate in order to repay the capital and interest of these loans. Half of the cost would be given back by the Department of Finance, and he calculated that, if £20,000 were spent on schools throughout County Clare, the repayment of the debt over twenty-five years would mean only an extra halfpenny on the rates. The purpose of the idea is to train boys in farm work and to encourage them to keep "on the land" rather than to migrate to the towns. If Clare decides to apply the Vocational Education Act to this purpose it will be a move along the right lines, and should encourage other counties to follow. The great point in favour of vocational training is that it gives an opportunity to boys and girls who are intelligent enough to do well in the world, but cannot afford to spend much money on their schooling. In a sense, however, its virtues are also faults. It has encouraged so many people to train for skilled and well-paid positions that now the supply is far greater than the demand, and the "market" is congested by thousands of men and women who have very little hope of getting the work for which they have studied so carefully. In Ireland especially it has helped rather than hindered the rush towards industry and the large towns, which was beginning to have its bad effect on the countryside even before Mr. de Valera's "economic war" came to hasten the tendency. However many native factories may be set up, indeed, agriculture always must be the main industry of this country, and any scheme which will counteract the drain from the rural districts ought to be encouraged. The scheme which is proposed for Clare would go some way towards achieving this end, and, in addition, it would improve Irish farming. While it is true that little preparation is needed in order to be a farm labourer, there are many branches of farming which call for something more than strong muscles, and vocational training would be quite as valuable for them as it is for industrial work. Modern ideas and methods never have been very conspicuous on Irish farms, and the younger generation would be more ready to apply them if it had some opportunity to learn their value. We hope that Clare will decide to put the scheme into practice, and that other local authorities in the Free State will follow the lead.

The North Irish Horse

There was loud laughter in the House of Commons yesterday at a reply that was given to a question by the Minister for War. Captain Balfour asked the Minister to define the duties of an honorary chaplain to the North Irish Horse, and in the course of his answer Mr. Duff Cooper revealed the fact that the total strength of the North Irish Horse consisted of one officer and no men. All the other units of cavalry militia, he added, had been disbanded. The North Irish Horse remained as the shadow of a name, and, while it did no good, it at least did no harm.

> Men are we, and must grieve when even the shade
> Of that which once was great is passed away.

We wonder how many of the delighted members of Parliament who held their sides with mirth at Mr. Duff Cooper's sallies knew—or, if they knew, cared—the feelings that would be evoked in thousands of Irish hearts by an announcement that seemed so funny to them. We do not suggest that the North Irish Horse was one of the British Army's most notable cavalry regiments. It merely was a militia "mob"; but it had a character of its own, and we venture to say that it passed as many good soldiers through its ranks as most others of its kind. How many former members of the North Irish Horse were left behind by the British Army in France and Flanders? They came from all parts of Ireland—hunting men, racing men, and nondescript sportsmen—and they learnt in the North Irish Horse an esprit de corps that could not be surpassed by the most haughty regiment of dragoons or hussars. When there was fighting to be done the men of the North Irish Horse never were very far away from the scene of action. The regiment fed the cavalry with a steady stream of some of the finest fighting material in the world. According to the statement by the Minister of War, its own battle honours occupy a page of the Army List; and now it is an object pour rire. It would be rather interesting to know the identity of the sole remaining officer, who has not even a batman to his name. He is the last of a host of gallant soldiers and the heir to a fine tradition of service.

The Yeomen's Beards

Painfully beards are disappearing from the faces of the King's Bodyguard of the Yeomen of the Guard. When permission to shave was granted to the Yeomen by His Majesty a few weeks ago, the Yeomen were grateful for the relief, but hesitated to avail themselves of the concession. There is something final about a beard. The decision to grow one is made only after searchings of heart of the most profound nature and an intensive study of one's face in a mirror—with the chin hung with false hair—"just to see how it would look." To grow a beard requires great courage, but to take it off again, once grown, is a step so irrevocable and so portentous that the ordinary beard-grower very often is unable to commit himself to the harvest. If, in an ecstasy of daring, he shaves his beard, he may find that the beardless face resembles nothing so much as the amiably vapid features of a sheep. By his foolhardiness, then, he will be compelled to let the world see him as a sheep for at least a couple of months until the new crop hides his shame. So far as ninety Yeomen of the Guard are concerned, however, it is better to look like a sheep without one's beard than to be mistaken for one of those queer foreigners because one has retained it. As Sergeant-Major Lockyer told the Daily Telegraph: "I have been taken for a French gendarme, a Russian, a French Cabinet Minister and an Italian officer." The Yeomen's beards are charming above a ruff; but, when beneath them nestle a hard white collar and an art silk tie, the effect is totally different. It may be so different that a sergeant-major of the sternest British bulldog breed can be mistaken for something innately ludicrous, like a Russian, or an Italian or any other of those laughable Continentals. The Yeomen, we may be sure, are earnestly exercised to preserve inviolate their ancient traditions; but, if one of their traditions makes them, when off duty, look like a French Cabinet Minister, something most certainly must be done about it.

THE GATE THEATRE'S PLANS

RE-OPENING NEXT MONTH

The Gate Theatre will reopen in Horse Show week with the first European production of "Master of the Revels," a comedy on the life of Henry VIII., by the American author, Don Marquis. This play will be followed by "When Lovely Woman——," a new play, by Mr. Lennox Robinson.

It has been decided that the theatre will be let from July 26 to January 26 to Mr. Hilton Edwards and Mr. Michael MacLiammoir, and for the remaining six months of the theatrical year to Lord Longford. The lessor being the Gate Theatre Company, the actors and actresses under Mr. Hilton Edwards will be known for the future as the "Gate Theatre Players," so as to avoid confusion.

Apart from "Master of the Revels" and "When Lovely Woman——," there will be several interesting productions in the near future. These include:—"Close Quarters," a translation of the German play by W. O. Somin; the first public production in Great Britain or Ireland of Laurence Housman's "Victoria Regina," a special adaptation of Ibsen's "Brand," and the first Irish production of "The Marvellous History of St. Bernard," which has been translated by Sir Barry Jackson from the French of Henri Ghéon. It is possible that two new Irish plays will be presented, and that the translation of a play by Lope de Vega will be given, while "The Importance of Being Earnest" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream" may be revived.

THE "FALMOUTH STRAD"

SALE TO FOUND MUSICAL SCHOLARSHIP

At a meeting of the Edinburgh University Court yesterday it was intimated that Mrs. Marjory Watson had directed her trustees and executors to sell the Stradivarius violin known as the Falmouth Strad, and to hand over the proceeds, after deduction of estate and legacy duties and expenses of the sale, to the University to found a scholarship in the faculty of music to be held by either graduating or post-graduate students.

Mrs. Watson had expressed the desire that the scholarship be used to help students in need of financial assistance.

The University Court has fixed November 10 as the polling day of the Rectorial election. Nominations must be in by 10 a.m. on November 2. The vacancy in the Lord Rectorship was caused by the death of Field-Marshal Viscount Allenby a few days after he had been installed to the office in May last.

DISTRESS IN DUBLIN

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—What can a working man do when his landlord refuses to carry out urgently necessary repairs? The law protects the tenant when exercising his rights, but the landlord can simply evict him for so doing!

I saw two families to-day living at the top of a house where the roof is in a shocking condition. What they have been suffering during the late torrential rains does not bear thinking of. There are six children in one family and nine in the other. In both rooms there were several places where the water poured in; they had hard work trying to keep the beds dry. In the larger family (11), which has but a small room and tiny closet, the conditions must be almost impossible, as they usually have to make up beds on the floor. The agent pays no attention whatever to the tenant's complaint that the rain is pouring through the roof, nor does Mr. FitzGerald even know his landlord's name and address.

Mr. and Mrs. B. and nine children are living in the top back room and are suffering equally or even more on account of their larger family. The landlord seems to be greatly to blame,—Yours, etc.,

S. C. HARRISON.

LONDON LETTER

DIRECTOR-GENERAL OF MUNITIONS

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

MR. DUFF COOPER, the Secretary for War, gave the House of Commons a surprise this afternoon when he announced that a Director-General of Munitions Production had been appointed, to be responsible to the War Office, for co-ordinating and expediting the production of munitions. The new Director would be Engineer Vice-Admiral Sir Harold Brown, Engineer-in-Chief of the Fleet. Sir Harry Brown joined the Navy in 1894, and throughout his career he has been associated with its development. In 1899 he was Assistant Engineer on the Mercury, one of the first vessels in the Navy to be built of mild steel, and later he went to the Implacable—then one of a new type of warship. Since then he has occupied a variety of appointments, until in 1930 he became Deputy Engineer-in-Chief, and later Engineer-in-Chief. In the Lobby there was much satisfaction that the new post had been created, as it was assumed that the new Director knows all that there is to be known about munitions. It was also regarded as a sign that the Government is determined to make up for lost time.

The Locarno Conference

In diplomatic circles it is the view that the Locarno Conference, arranged to be held at Brussels this month, will be postponed, if not cancelled altogether, as the three Powers most interested—Britain, France and Belgium—have agreed to reconsider the desirability of holding the Conference in the light of recent developments in Europe. The principal point is the refusal of Italy to attend while the Mediterranean mutual assistance agreements continue to remain in force. She also resents the opposition to her demand that Germany shall be invited to the opening stages of the Conference. As the Conference arises out of the re-militarisation of the Rhineland it is scarcely surprising that France strenuously objects to the presence of the Germans until the matter has been discussed by the other Powers. In Paris the view is that the Conference will be cancelled, and this possibility is giving rise to alarm.

Supplementary Estimates

The supplementary estimates issued to-day ask for nearly three millions for the Ministry of Agriculture as a grant of the Cattle Fund, while the sum of one hundred thousand pounds is required for Secret Services. On the Royal Warrant consenting to the marriage of Prince George and Princess Marina, and the Warrant for the affixing of the Great Seal the sum of one pound was remitted, and later on another ten shillings was remitted on the Warrant when the Duke of Kent was introduced into the House of Lords. Excess cost of the Palestine disturbances are represented by the nominal estimate of ten pounds—a provision made for this excess cost being fifty thousand pounds—and it has been decided that the Palestine Government shall in principle be liable for the whole of the excess cost of the troops stationed in the country. Twenty thousand pounds is required in respect of palaces in the present occupation of the Sovereign, while a new Legation is to be acquired in Athens, and a new Embassy is to be built in Nanking. These buildings will cost nearly thirty-nine thousand pounds.

Government Gas Masks

The Government Department which, under the direction of the Home Office, has been working on a scheme for a provision of gas masks for the civil population to be used in the event of war, claims to have found a gas mask as nearly perfect as is possible. The result of this is that in the estimates the Home Office will take money to proceed at once to the production and distribution of the masks free of charge. A method of distribution which has entailed a great deal of organisation has been very carefully prepared, but it is not the intention of the Government to issue the masks to the public unless it becomes necessary. Production will go on, and the masks will be stored in convenient centres throughout the country; but members of the public will be permitted to test them and become accustomed to their use. It is hoped by the authorities that people will freely take advantage of the opportunity. A sum of £250,000 is to be set aside for increased provision for the production of the respirators, as the masks are officially termed.

House of Lords Reform

The peers and members of the House of Commons who interviewed the Prime Minister last night, asking him to make reform of the House of Lords the subject of legislation during the lifetime of the present Parliament were greatly disappointed at the non-committal nature of his reply, as they had hoped that he would at least promise them that the question would be given consideration. The inference they drew from the interview was that the present Government have no intention of dealing with the matter at all. It is understood, however, that it is not intended to allow the subject to drop, and the influential committee of peers and commoners which has been working for some years urging that the existence of a National Government provides the opportunity for action will now wait until Parliament meets for a new session in October to decide what further action shall be taken. Attempts will be made to introduce a private members' bill in the House of Commons to secure a debate, while the question will also be raised at the conference of the Conservative Party in October.

Heligoland Refortified

The Germans mean to refortify Heligoland, and in this connection Lord Cranborne has announced in the House of Commons that it is being fortified by the leave of nobody. This, though strictly accurate, recalls the fact that the Conservative Government of Great Britain, under the administration, ceded what was a British island in 1890 to Germany in exchange for Zanzibar. Sixty-one members voted against the cession, and one of them, Sir Alfred Pease, points out that "Heligoland was able to defeat the designs of Napoleon. It is impossible to anticipate how soon Heligoland may be useful to us again." The island was a thorn in the side of the British Navy during the Great War, and a similar thing may happen again.

M. Blum is Weakening

In France there is a feeling in political circles that M. Blum will be unable to hold his Government together much longer, and M. Bergery, a comparatively young man, is being mentioned as his successor. A very determined person, patriotic if anti-capitalist, he is scarcely the type of man likely to get France out of her difficulties. He is not a leader of men, though he can talk very well and has a good following. I met a man this morning who was in Paris on Monday night, and he told me that he had never seen so many tricolours in the streets—this being the only form of patriotism the French people seem able to indulge in just now. To-day is that of the National Fête, and some lively scenes are expected.

CHINESE "REBELS" TO RESIST

GOVERNMENT TROOPS ADVANCE IN KWANTUNG

CANTON "DICTATOR" TO COMMAND ALLIED ARMY

TENSION prevails again in South-West China, as the rulers of Kwangtung and Kwangsi have determined to resist the measures taken against them by the Central Government at Nanking.

An emergency meeting of the South-West Political Council yesterday decided not to recognise its dissolution, decreed on Monday by the Plenary Conference of the Central Executive Committee at Nanking.

An "anti-Japanese allied army" is to be formed by Kwangtung and Kwangsi, under the command of General Chen Chi-tang, the "dictator" of Canton, who was relieved of his command by the Central Executive Committee on Monday.

General Yu Han-mou, who was appointed his successor, yesterday morning advanced into Kwangtung, while the South-West forces fell back to Shiukwan.

Frantic military preparations are being made to stem General Yu Han-mou's advance.

EFFORT TO SPLIT ALLIANCE FAILS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

HONG KONG, Tuesday.

Generals Li Tsung-jen and Pai Chung-hsi, Commander-in-Chief and Vice-Commander-in-Chief, respectively, of the Kwangsi armies, have decided to support General Chen Chi-tang, the Cantonese dictator, recently dismissed by the Central Government.

They have refused to serve on the new "National Defence Commission" set up by the Central authorities. In appointing them to this post it is believed that Nanking hoped to split the Kwangtung-Kwangsi alliance.

General Li Tsung-jen has been appointed assistant-commander-in-chief of the "anti-Japanese allied army."

This army, from the implication in its name, brands as "traitors" the Nanking troops, who regard it as composed of "rebels."

The two torpedo boats which yesterday deserted from the Canton navy arrived here this morning. In a statement to the Press they avowed allegiance to the Central Nanking Government

CANTON PREPARES FOR SIEGE

CANTON, Tuesday.

General Yu Han-mou, commanding the 1st Kwangtung Army, which deserted from Canton to the Central Government, began to advance into Kwangtung this morning.

He is reported to have reached Pingshek, about 15 miles from the Kiangsi border, while the 2nd Kwangtung Army, which is loyal to Canton, has fallen back before him to Shiukwan, on the Canton-Hankow railway.

Frantic military preparations are being made here, especially in pressing recruits for the famous 19th Route Army, which held off the Japanese attack at Shanghai for six weeks in 1932.

It is hoped with these to stem Yu Han-mou's advance, but defections of troops continue, both along the border and in Canton.

THE CUSTOMS FUNDS

In retaliation for the Nankin Government's decision to take control of Canton—particularly its finances—the Canton authorities to-day commanded the local manager of the Bank of China to hand over the Customs funds, which have to be remitted to Nanking.

He refused.

In contrast with the excitement of the authorities the populace of Canton remain remarkably calm.

It is noteworthy that the Canton dollar, which slumped so badly in relation to the Hong Kong dollar when the trouble began between Nanking and the South, several weeks ago, remains steady.

Foreign observers are frankly nonplussed by the situation, but, despite the attitude being taken up in Canton, Chinese Government circles predict an early collapse of the opposition.

AUSTRO-GERMAN AGREEMENT

A RUSSIAN ANALYSIS

MADE POSSIBLE BY ITALY'S WEAKNESS

PEACEFUL INTENTIONS "COMICAL"

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW, Tuesday.

THE Austro-German agreement was possible, because Italian Fascism, despite its victory in Abyssina, or, more correctly, because of it, became weaker in Europe, writes the Soviet journalist, Radek, in the Isvestia.

It was in striving for a common diplomatic Italo-German front that Mussolini was forced to consent to the Austro-German agreement, Radek says.

As long as Germany hopes to reach an agreement ensuring for her at least British neutrality in the case of a clash with France and Soviet Russia, she will hardly agree to bind herself finally to Italy. It should not be doubted that both States are ready to deceive each other as soon as they achieve their chief aim, but, apart from these intentions, the Italo-German rapprochement is a fact.

Besides the rapprochement with Italy, Germany, in her agreement with Austria, sees her own expansion into Austria, and through Austria into the Danube and Balkan countries. It sounds comical to hear German newspapers assert that the agreement proves the peaceful intentions of Herr Hitler.

"INDEPENDENT"

Whether Germany participates in the Brussels Conference or not, by her actions she tells the countries organising it that, with or without their permission, she is advancing. She says: "You did not manage to reply to the re-militarisation of the Rhineland zone, whereas I am already preparing for the return of Danzig to Germany and the annexation of Austria. Besides, I am independent of you, and can launch on a bargain with Italy directed against you."

That is how Germany addresses France and Great Britain, concludes Radek. She hopes she will be understood.

Immediate measures are being taken by the Soviet Government to guard the population of Russian cities against bombing and gas attacks from the air. On Thursday citizens of Moscow will start civil manœuvres, lasting seven days, in which the whole population will be required to take part in anti-air raid and anti-gas drills.

The announcement of these precautions on the heels of the Austro-German agreement is regarded in political circles as a broad hint to Berlin that Russia will not be caught unprepared by a German attack.

LEAGUE'S FAILURE

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ROME, Friday.

The end of sanctions will be celebrated throughout Italy to-morrow, the date fixed by the League for their raising, with a display of the national flag.

The Tribuna says the revocation of sanctions does not merely mark the technical failure of an experiment, but "the capitulation of the whole League policy."

It was stated to-night in authoritative circles that all reports regarding a Four Power Pact to be sponsored by Italy must be regarded as premature.

Citizens and peasants of Czechoslovakia, says a Prague message, have subscribed £26,700,000 to the National Defence Loan, and defensive measures, including fortifications, to be completed within three years, will now be put in hand at once.

FRANCE'S NATIONAL FETE DAY

ELECTING A LORD MAYOR

CORK'S THIRD FAILURE

ALDERMAN FRENCH RESIGNS

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Tuesday.

MEETING to-night for the third time in eight days to elect a Lord Mayor, the Cork Corporation once again failed to achieve that object. Twice previously the meeting was adjourned by the outgoing Lord Mayor (Alderman S. French) on legal points.

When the meeting reassembled to-night nearly an hour was occupied in discussing procedure. Fine Gael and Labour members advocated resuming where the proceedings had previously been adjourned, while other members urged a fresh poll.

THE DECISION

Eventually it was agreed, by thirteen votes to two, and with six not voting, to begin at the point where the previous adjournment had taken place. That meant that the meeting began with the position that a poll had already been taken, and had resulted in Alderman W. Desmond, T.D. (Fine Gael), getting seven votes, Councillor J. Hurley (Labour) four votes and Councillor S. O'Leary (Fianna Fail) also four votes, with three members, in addition to the candidates, declining to vote.

Proceeding from that point to the election of a Lord Mayor, the first step was to eliminate one of the two lower-placed candidates in the poll—namely, Councillor O'Leary or Councillor Hurley.

THE VOTE

With this object a vote was taken, and the result was: Hurley seven and O'Leary two, with ten members not voting.

Mr. O'Leary was accordingly eliminated, and on a subsequent poll between Alderman Desmond and Mr. Hurley for the position of Lord Mayor each received eight votes.

Again three members abstained from voting—Alderman J. Allen, Mr. D. G. Buckley, and Alderman F. J. Daly (Blackrock).

The outgoing Lord Mayor then declared the meeting abortive.

When the members made up their minds, he said, about the selection they could elect a Lord Mayor. He would create the position for them by handing in his own resignation to the Town Clerk.

Amidst protests and applause Alderman French then left the chair, declaring that there was no further business.

MORE RECORDS FOR BRITAIN

EYSTON BEATS FRENCH FIGURES

END OF 48 HOURS' RUN ON SALT FLATS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Tuesday.

CAPTAIN G. E. T. Eyston and his co-driver, Albert Denly, ended their record-breaking run in their 480 h.-p. Rolls-Royce engined car, Speed of the Wind, this morning, having smashed every world record from 500 to 10,000 kilometres, from 500 to 5,000 miles, and from three hours to forty-eight hours. The intermediate records they broke are innumerable, but at least seventeen new records for official distances will go down to their credit in the international books.

By covering 6,544.75 miles in forty-eight hours they averaged 136.34 m.p.h., which was almost twenty-seven miles an hour faster and 1,292 miles further than the previous records of 109.54 m.p.h. and 5,252.92 miles by a French team, consisting of MM. Perrot, Dhome and Girod, driving a Delahaye. The British team's record would have been all the more remarkable had they not run out of petrol on the 1,340 miles, and lost seventeen minutes pushing the car to the pits. This lost them some forty miles.

By covering over 6,500 miles in two days the British drivers did more than the equivalent of a trip to Cape Town from Southampton, which takes 17 days by the mail steamers; more than a trip to New York and back, and more than a trip from London to Alaska or Cape Horn.

Tired and burnt by the wind, but thoroughly happy, Captain Eyston said to Reuter: "I am completely satisfied. The car behaved perfectly. She was not touched from beginning to end except for a change of tyres and to add petrol, oil and water. My tyres stood up to their job marvellously."

Eyston, who was coated with the white salt and resembled a snowman, said that the glaring light and the heat gave them the most trouble. The temperature during the day was frequently at 110 degrees.

NOW FOR HOME

Eyston said that he and Denly hope to catch the Berengaria on Thursday if accommodation is available. The Speed of the Wind is being put into a crate without delay, and will be shipped to New York to-morrow.

"Some time next summer I hope to be back again," said the British driver. When asked if he would attempt to beat Sir Malcolm Campbell's land speed world record of 301.129 m.p.h., established on the same flats, Eyston replied: "It is quite possible, of course, but I hardly think so."

In addition to the records shattered in the last two days, Captain Eyston, who arrived on the flats in April, established a new world record for one hour by covering 162.5 m.p.h. just over a week ago.

Ab Jenkins, some of whose records were broken by Eyston, has built a 12-cylinder car with which he hopes to lower some, if not all, of the new records. He will arrive this month or early next.

YESTERDAY'S RECORDS

5,000 miles, 142.61 m.p.h. (previous holders, Perrot, Dhome and Girod).

10,000 kilos, 137.45 m.p.h. (Perrot, Dhome and Girod).

48 hours, 136.34 m.p.h. (Perrot, Dhome and Girod).

Eyston used Patent Castrol XXL.

ARMS FOUND IN BELFAST

REVOLVERS UNDER A FLOOR

MARRIED MAN SENT FOR TRIAL

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Tuesday.

THE discovery of six revolvers under a floor in a house in Parkview street, Oldpark road district of Belfast, led to the appearance of Richard M'Ilhenny, aged 28, in the Belfast Custody Court, to-day. He was charged before Mr. H. Toppin, R.M., with having firearms and ammunition with intent to endanger life, and also with having an explosive substance.

He was returned for trial to the City Commission, which opens next week.

THE SEARCH

Sergeant Glass said that he went to the accused man's house on Sunday last, accompanied by other policemen. M'Ilhenny, his wife and three children were in the kitchen. The witness searched the house, and in a room off the kitchen, under the flooring boards, he found four Webley revolvers .450 calibre, one Smith and Wesson .450 calibre, and one American pattern .380. The last-mentioned was a five-chamber revolver.

Three of the Webley revolvers were each loaded in five chambers. The American pattern revolver was fully loaded in all five chambers. One of the Webleys and the Smith and Wesson were not loaded. He also found 75 rounds of .450 revolver ammunition, and 41 rounds of .380 revolver ammunition. The ammunition was wrapped up in brown paper, and in a portion of a newspaper dated June 16, 1936.

IN GOOD ORDER

The revolvers were wrapped up in waterproof sheeting and pieces of cloth. The revolvers were in good working order, and the ammunition was serviceable.

When he found the revolvers and the ammunition the prisoner was in the kitchen, and he was brought into the room. The witness cautioned him and asked him if he wished to make any explanation as to why the revolvers and ammunition were in his house, but he made no reply.

To Mr. M'Grath—He didn't know how long the accused man was in the house, but another witness would give evidence in regard to that. M'Ilhenny did not cause him any obstruction.

"GO AHEAD"

Constable Devenney said he was the first policeman to enter the prisoner's house on July 12. He asked him if there were any firearms or ammunition in the house, and accused said "No." He informed the prisoner that they were going to search the house to see, and he said "Go ahead." Sergeant Glass and other police then entered the house. The witness assisted Sergeant Glass in making a search of the small room off the kitchen. He saw Sergeant Glass find the revolvers and the ammunition underneath the boards.

This concluded the evidence, and Mr. M'Grath applied on behalf of the prisoner for bail. The accused, he said, had a good answer to the charge. He was a man in delicate health, and one of his children was in hospital.

Dr. Mills opposed bail being granted.

Remarking that the charge was a very serious one, Mr. Toppin returned the prisoner for trial at the Commission in custody

ARMY'S LIGHTER SIDE

ONE-MAN REGIMENTAL UNIT

CAPTAIN H. H. BALFOUR'S DISCOVERY

THE one-man show is a familiar feature of our public entertainments, and not long ago a one-man strike became the subject of a prosecution in a Dublin court of summary jurisdiction. Captain H. H. Balfour, the Conservative member for the Isle of Thanet, now has brought to light a one-man regimental unit of the British Army.

In the House of Commons last night Captain Balfour asked the Secretary for War whether he would state the duties of the clergyman appearing in the Army List as Honorary Chaplain to the North Irish Horse Cavalry Militia; how many church parades had been held during the past two years for officers and other ranks; and whether the attendance had been voluntary or compulsory.

Mr. Duff Cooper replied—All units of the cavalry militia have been disbanded except the North Irish Horse, which has been left in what I can, perhaps, best describe as a state of suspended animation. (Laughter.) All the other ranks of this unit, having completed their engagements, and recruiting for it being suspended, the strength at present consists of one officer only. (Laughter.) In these circumstances my hon. and gallant friend's questions do not arise.

Captain Balfour—If the whole force consists of one officer, may we hear whether he has any duties to perform and whether he takes a place in the Army List?

Mr. Duff Cooper replied that the officer took a place in the Army List as being the sole member of this force, the battle honours of which were described on one page of the Army List. While it did not fulfil any important purpose, it certainly did no harm. (Laughter.)

Mr. E. Shinwell (Labour) asked whether, although cavalry units had been almost entirely disbanded, it was the practice of the War Office to permit former cavalry officers in mechanised units to retain their horses, and, if so, for what purpose?

Mr. Herbert Williams asked whether this officer had been seconded for special duty.

There were no replies.

MORE DEATHS IN SPAIN

ROUND-UP OF FASCISTS

GOVERNMENT "ON ITS METTLE"

WEEK'S RECESS FOR PARLIAMENT

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MADRID, Tuesday.

WOMEN predominated in the huge crowd that thronged the streets of Madrid this afternoon to watch the funeral of Señor Calvo Sotelo, the Monarchist leader whose assassination has raised political passions to boiling point.

Señor Sotelo's body, with the eyes gouged out, was handed over to the city mortuary by men later identified as members of the "shock police."

Fears of riots during the funeral were not realised, though a small but rowdy band of Madrid Fascists created a demonstration. The majority of militant Right-wingers were in jail following widespread arrests all over the country.

The number of those held has not yet been established, but in Madrid alone 135 Fascists have been rounded up by the police.

Four people were killed to-day in a collision between Right and Left forces at Orense (Galicia), Señor Sotelo's native city.

So many people assembled in Madrid to see the funeral that the ceremony was postponed for an hour. Official deputations were present to represent the Cortes and Señor Sotelo's party.

By a decision announced to-day the Spanish Parliament is to have a week's temporary recess, the object being to allow passions to cool. It is feared that if a discussion on public order were initiated, at once feathers, if not bullets, mig' fly in the Cortes itself.

The decision has robbed the other leading Conservative leader, Señor Gil Robles, of the chance to speak this afternoon, but as Parliament is to meet for the closing session to-morrow, he will then be given an opportunity to pronounce what will most likely be a funeral oration on his friend, and a violent condemnation of the methods of the parties in opposition to him.

ROBLES' RISK

Señor Robles was away on holiday when he heard the news of the murder, and hurried back to the capital. Many people think he has done so at the risk of his own life, as he is one of the most unpopular men in Spain at the present day. It was learned to-day that a band of men similar to that which decoyed Señor Sotelo to his doom, visited Señor Robles's home on the same night.

For the time being the murder has had the effect of consolidating a disintegrating Government. They intended to resign yesterday following their failure to deal with the 100,000 striking building trade operatives, who have defied repeated orders to resume work.

The new situation has put the Cabinet on its mettle.

It is now known definitely that the murder was carried out by members of the police force in revenge for the killing of Police-Lieutenant de Castillo by Fascist gunmen on Sunday night.

NO ARRESTS

Lieutenant Moreno, the man alleged to have been in charge of the "execution squad" that murdered Señor Sotelo, was a personal friend of the murdered policeman, and had sworn to avenge him if he were killed.

Contrary to last night's announcement that four lieutenants and one captain of police had been arrested for the crime, the Government now states that no arrests have been made yet.

Ya and Epoca, two Madrid evening papers of Conservative Catholic tendencies, have been suppressed indefinitely for printing uncensored reports of yesterday's murder.

Rioting broke out to-day in the working class district of Quatro Caminos, in the north of Madrid, between building strikers and police. One striker was killed, three seriously wounded, and many others less seriously.

FROM "THE TIMES"

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

MEANS TEST AND WAGES

The Times observes to-day in a leading article:—The Labour Party are discovering that popular opinion on the Unemployment Assistance Board's regulations is not all they had imagined it to be, and that there has been a change since eighteen months ago. In the meantime there has been experience of the Board's administration, and the Board's investigations have produced a better understanding of the anomalies and inequities that are the relics of the old system. There is not even a homogeneous constituency of the dissatisfied among the Board's clients. On the contrary, 200,000 recipients of assistance have reason to desire the new regulations, and many of them will benefit a second time from the scales of relief which the Board has put forward. No one would be receiving assistance, according to the Board's regulations, unless its scales gave them as much as, or more than, the former public assistance allowances, and the scales are to be improved by a larger amount than the estimated increase in expenditure of £750,000 would suggest.

But while the Board's scales improve they will abolish public assistance scales that have been still higher, so that there will be a levelling out of assistance and something like equality of treatment. The fact must be faced—and faced boldly—that in the areas where the administration of public assistance was lax and public money was distributed with little discrimination of degrees of need and was often much in excess of the assessment of need in corresponding areas, there will be reductions of allowances.

An underlying principle of the regulations, as a whole, sets an upward limit, not rigid but well defined, to the amount of help which a national system of assistance may render in normal circumstances. It must not be more advantageous to be unemployed than to work, and for that reason the standard of assistance cannot be allowed to exceed the amount of a man's customary full-time earnings. When, therefore, the assistance scales are being examined they must be set in relation to wages.

NAZI ANTI-JEWISH OFFENSIVE

BANNED FROM TRADING AT OLYMPICS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Tuesday.

Jews will be forbidden to do any trading at the Olympic Games next month by a police order issued to-day. According to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, the order states that only those who have recommendations from the Department of Trade and Artisanship of the National Socialist Party will be given police permits to sell cigarettes, cold drinks and other refreshments to the Olympic crowds.

The barring of the Jewish refreshment sellers is apparently a measure taken to prevent foreign visitors to the Olympics from coming into contact with "politically unreliable" elements.

Five people were burned to death in a blaze which raged all night at Pinsk, Eastern Poland, gutting a large section of the town.

RURAL SCHOOLS

INTERESTING CLARE PROPOSAL

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

ENNIS, Tuesday.

At a meeting of Clare Vocational Education Committee, Mr. J. Kirwan, Inspector, said that there was no reason why every suitable centre in Clare should not be provided with a rural school. Under the Vocational Education Act the Committee was empowered to obtain a loan from the Board of Works, and the County Council was empowered to strike a special rate for the building of rural schools, half the cost of which would be recouped by the Department of Finance. He suggested that the Committee should embark on a five years' building plan in Co. Clare, and provide several rural schools, the object of which would be to train and imbue boys with respect for the land, or "get them back to the land." The building of a rural school would cost £3,200, including equipment. If the Committee decided to build schools costing £20,000 the yearly repayment of principal and interest on the loan, spread over a period of 25 years, would amount to, roughly, £1,400 per annum, or about the proceeds of 1d. in the £ on the rates. As the Department of Finance would recoup half the expenditure, a rate of one halfpenny in the £ on the county would be sufficient. To decide the details and select centres in which such schools should be built, he suggested that a sub-committee be appointed.

The suggestion of the Inspector was unanimously adopted, and a sub-committee was appointed to make recommendations to the parent body and to the Clare County Council.

RE-FORTIFICATION IN ANY EVENT

IF MONTREUX TALKS FAIL

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ISTANBUL, Tuesday.

According to unconfirmed, but persistent, rumours here, if the Montreux Conference fails the Turkish Government will not hesitate to re-fortify the Straits immediately.

It is also stated that the summoning of an extraordinary session of the Grand National Assembly in reference to "very important decisions" is being considered.

Political circles in Turkey have been partly appeased by the attitude now taken by Britain at the conference, however, and are more optimistic concerning the final outcome of the discussions.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN CONFERENCE

DRAFTING COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Viscount Cranborne, Under-Secretary, Foreign Office, in a written reply to Lieut.-Commander Fletcher, states that progress has been made by the Anglo-Egyptian Conference, and the discussions have now reached a point where it has been found possible to set up a drafting committee, composed of representatives of both parties, to draft the texts of all the military clauses ad referendum.

The second legal adviser to the Foreign Office arrived in Egypt on July 5 to take part in the discussions. The Sudan and civil clauses have not yet been touched upon.

The Open Golf Championship

How Irish Players Fared

One of the features of the first day's play in the Open Golf Championship of Ireland at Dollymount yesterday was a brilliant round at the end of the day by William Nolan, the professional of the Portmarnock Club, who might with a little luck have tied for the lead with William Large, of Liverpool Municipal, at 69. His first putt at the home hole just pulled up at the edge; but his 70 was one of the best rounds of the day, as he played the beginning of his round in heavy rain.

Two Irishmen finished among the half-dozen who returned 71—P. Stevenson, of Royal Portrush, and Mr. William McConnell, of the Dun Laoghaire Club—and on the same mark was Mr. A. D. Locke, the nineteen-year-old South African mining engineer, who did not defend his South African title this year, so that he could compete in the Open and Amateur Championships, in the former of which he was the leading amateur.

Dr. J. D. MacCormack, captain of the Irish international team, played a very fine round of 72, but the holder, Ernest Whitcombe, after a grand first nine, struck a bad patch and finished at 73. Among the competitors is Robert Grimsdell, professional to the Royal Johannesburg Club, who had a score of 73. He is one of the most interesting of the visitors. An Englishman, he has been for seventeen years resident in South Africa, and selected this championship for his re-appearance in European golf.

POLICE ACTIVITY

SEARCHES IN CLONMEL AND KERRY

Our Clonmel Correspondent writes that Civic Guards and detectives have visited a number of houses in Clonmel and district. It is understood that searches were carried out on the authority of search orders under Article 2A of the Constitution Amendment Act. It is not known whether anything of an incriminating nature has been found.

In North Kerry also, our Listowel Correspondent states, there was marked police activity on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, when houses of Republicans in Listowel, Banemore, Ballydonoghue, Collard, Glouria, Kellamore, and Bedford districts were searched for arms and literature. The police are very reticent, but, so far as can be ascertained, nothing incriminating was discovered, and there were no arrests.

PRODUCTION OF MUNITIONS

A NEW BRITISH APPOINTMENT

In the House of Commons yesterday, Brigadier-General Makins (Conservative) asked the Secretary for War what steps he was taking to expedite the re-equipment of the Army.

Mr. Duff Cooper replied:—I have decided to appoint an additional member of the Army Council, with the title of Director-General of Munitions Production, to be responsible to me for co-ordinating and expediting the production of munitions in accordance with the programme approved by His Majesty's Government. With the assent of the First Lord of the Admiralty, whose help I gratefully acknowledge, I have offered the appointment to Engineer Vice-Admiral Sir Harold Brown, Engineer-in-Chief of the Fleet, and I am happy to say that he has accepted my invitation.

Sir Francis Acland (Liberal) asked if the co-ordination would extend to the Navy, or relate only to Army supplies.

Mr. Duff Cooper said that there were certain supplies which the War Office provided and supplied to the other two Services. That would continue.

Mr. J. J. Lawson (Labour) asked if the Minister for the Co-ordination of Defence was aware of this appointment.

Mr. Duff Cooper—Yes.

FROM ARMY TO CIVIC GUARDS

COMMANDANT BECOMES SUPERINTENDENT

Commandant Daniel Stapleton of the Free State Army will, as from to-day become an officer of the Civic Guards, with the rank of Superintendent. Two notices in last night's Iris Oifigiuil convey the official announcement of his transfer. The first intimates that the Executive Council has accepted his resignation of his commission in the Army, and the second announces his appointment as an officer in the Garda Siochana.

Mr. Stapleton is well-known as a military technician and expert in ballistics.

NEW TRAMWAY DIRECTOR

The Board of the Dublin United Tramways Company (1896), Ltd., have co-opted Mr. Justice W. E. Wylie to be a director of the company.

TO-DAY IN THE DAIL

THE ELECTION OF MAYORS

It is understood that the new Milk (Contracts) Bill will be given a first reading in the Dail to-day.

During the week it is hoped to advance the Slaughter of Cattle and Sheep Bill, the Land Bill, the bills dealing with registration of births, deaths and marriages, the Noxious Weeds Bill, the Night Work in Bakeries Bill and the Aran Island (Transport) Bill. It is also hoped to take the Superannuation Bill and the Connaught Rangers Bill.

At question time to-day Mr. FitzGerald-Kenney (U.I.P., Mayo) will ask the Minister for Agriculture for information as to the number of calves slaughtered between January 1 and June 30, and the amount of money paid by the State for the skins.

Mr. James M. Burke (U.I.P., West Cork) will ask the Minister for Local Government if he would consider the advisability of introducing legislation bringing the procedure for the election of Mayors into conformity with that regulating the election of Chairmen of County Councils—namely, that the question be decided by the majority of the members present and voting.

Mr. Norton will ask the Minister for Local Government if, in view of recent disclosures at a coroner's inquest in Dublin, he is aware that serious difficulties are experienced by poor persons in seeking admission to Dublin hospitals, and whether he proposes to take any steps to remedy the position.

SANCTIONS AGAINST ITALY

CESSATION IN FREE STATE TO-DAY

An Order was made by the Free State Executive Council yesterday, with effect as on and from to-day, revoking the League of Nations (Obligations of Membership) Order, 1935. The effect of the new Order is to terminate economic sanctions against Italy so far as Saorstat Eireann is concerned.

It was officially announced yesterday that H.M.S. Nelson, flagship of the Commander-in-Chief Home Fleet, was sailing for Portsmouth from Gibraltar. The flag of the Commander-in-Chief, Sir Roger Backhouse, has been transferred to H.M.S. Rodney.

COAL PRICES

A RUMOUR DENIED

Mr. S. Furness (Liberal National), in the House of Commons yesterday, asked the Secretary for Mines whether he was aware that under the trade agreement with the Irish Free State the Central Council of Coalowners had given an undertaking to the Irish Free State coal importers that Northern Ireland should not receive more favourable treatment than was accorded to buyers in the Irish Free State; would he say by what authority they were able to give such a guarantee, and why the business of coal exporting and coal importing between Northern Ireland and Great Britain should be affected by an agreement between Great Britain and the Irish Free State.

Captain Crookshank—No such undertaking has been, or could be, given under the terms of the proposed arrangement with the Irish Free State. I understand that by voluntary agreement between representatives of the colliery owners of the United Kingdom and coal buyers of the Irish Free State, the latter will, as a general rule, not receive less favourable terms than Northern Ireland. The second and third parts of the question, therefore, do not arise.

FIGHTING IN PARIS

LEFT SUPPORTERS ATTACKED

CLIMAX TO 14th JULY CELEBRATIONS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Tuesday.

WHILE most of Paris was dancing in the streets and public squares tonight fighting broke out in the Champs Elysée. Two taxi-cabs containing supporters of the Left, who were waving red flags, were attacked by Nationalists, who broke the windows of the taxis with sticks, dragged out the occupants, and beat them up.

Fighting quickly became general, and mobile guards were called out.

The disturbances were an unpleasant climax to a day of good-humoured celebration of the anniversary of the fall of Bastille 147 years ago.

For a short time the Champs Elysées and the side streets were the scene of running fights between police and demonstrators, most of whom apparently belonged to Right factions. Ten persons were arrested and several injured.

By 7 p.m. the police had the situation in hand and closed all entrances to the Champs Elysées, except from the Place de la Concorde.

This afternoon, in holiday atmosphere, two huge Popular Front processions made their way to the Place de la Concorde, where the Premier (M. Blum) and other leaders broadcast speeches.

MILK VENDORS' ASSOCIATION

DECISION AT A HEATED MEETING

BY a majority of 32 votes to 25, it was decided at a meeting of the Milk Vendors' Association, held in Banba Hall, Parnell square, Dublin, last night, to form a co-operative society for the purchase and distribution of milk in the city.

There were about two hundred members present, and a lively discussion on the proposal occupied the meeting for about four hours. At times the arguments became heated, and many of the members jumped to their feet at once to protest against what they considered a grievance. On several occasions the Chairman's calls for order were inaudible for minutes, and eventually a group at the back broke into a free fight.

WOMEN SEEK SHELTER

The women in the audience took shelter on the platform, and for about fifteen minutes confusion reigned. It seemed as if the meeting would be broken up when a man climbed up on the platform, addressed the meeting, and in a few minutes the meeting was ready to proceed again.

The aim of the society is to buy milk from the producers at the same price that is now being paid, but to sell it to its members at cost price, plus the cost of distribution and a little extra to cover the staff expenses of the organisation. It proposes to bottle and pasteurise the milk, and to sell a product of as high a standard as can be purchased anywhere.

Mr. Brian Doyle, chairman of the vendors' association, who presided, said that the Press had been invited to the meeting because the time had come when the citizens of Dublin should be made aware of the attempt that was being made to deprive a section of them of their livelihood by the establishment of a monopoly on one of the most necessary commodities in life.

Reviewing the situation, Mr. Doyle said that the effect of the agreement reached on Saturday morning was to give a virtual monopoly of the milk business in Dublin to the "big ten." The agreement made by them provided that the producers should charge 1s. per gallon to the retail traders as the price fixed by the associated distributors. This meant that the retail milk traders, many of them having been in the trade for twenty or thirty years, would now have to observe the agreement made by these few, or, as an alternative, to deal with the combine at the same price. That will be all right, he added, till they get us out of the market, and then the price will be 1s. 2d. or 1s. 3d. per gallon.

MILK DISTRIBUTION

Dealing with the distribution of milk, he said that under the strike agreement the producers would get a net price of 7d. per gallon for milk. Ten per cent. would be sold at 1s., ten per cent. would be sold in bottles at 1s. 4d., and the remainder to the consumers at 1s. 8d. or 2s. per gallon, which meant that the combine was making the handsome profit of 1s. 1d. per gallon, while paying only 7d. to the producer.

Mr. P. J. Crowley said that the distributors, who composed the "big ten," were responsible for about one-third of Dublin's milk supply, and on that basis they distributed about 20,000 gallons, obtained and sold at an average profit of 10½d. per gallon.

The members of the Milk Vendors' Association who bought direct from the farmer would pay not less than the agreed price, but that was not to be confused with the price agreed by the ten individuals, which he personally refused to recognise.

DEATH OF AN IRISH V.C.

CORKMAN'S BRAVERY AT GALLIPOLI

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Tuesday.

Staff Sergeant William Cosgrove, V.C., a native of Cork, died this morning at the Queen Alexandra Military Hospital, Millbank, London. His brother and his aunt, Mrs. Lloyd, who had travelled over from Ireland, were with him when he died. He had been unwell for about ten months.

The Victoria Cross was awarded to him on August 23, 1915, for his bravery as a corporal in the 1st Battalion of the Royal Munster Fusiliers at Gallipoli, on the 26th April, 1915, "for his most conspicuous bravery in leading his section with great dash during the attack from the beach to the east of Cape Helles, on the Turkish positions. Corporal Cosgrove, on this occasion, pulled down with his bare hands the portions of the enemy's barbed wire entanglements, notwithstanding terrific fire from both fronts and flanks, thereby greatly contributing to the successful clearing of the height."

Following the disbandment of the regiment with the four other Irish regiments in 1922, he joined the Army in India, and served at Rangoon until a few years ago.

The remains leave London to-morrow for interment at Upper Aghada, Cork, at noon on Friday.

CAR'S DASH INTO HEDGE

SON OF LORD LOUTH KILLED

ON THE WAY TO JOIN HIS REGIMENT

THE HON. RANDAL PATRICK RALPH OLIVER PLUNKETT, the 21-year-old younger son of Lord Louth, was killed in a car crash near Honiton, Devon, yesterday.

He was married on February 13th at Newton Abbott (Devon) Register Office, his bride being Miss Gwendoline Mary Cowling, a Torquay hairdresser.

He was travelling alone from Torquay to Colchester, where his regiment, the 5th Royal Inniskilling Dragoon Guards, is stationed, when the accident occurred, and it is believed that the car struck a bank at the side of the road. Mr. Plunkett was dead when the accident was discovered.

SCENE OF THE ACCIDENT

The crash occurred on the Ilminster road, near the village of Yarcombe. Mr. Plunkett was apparently turning into a by-road on the left of the main road. At that point there is a grass triangle, and a wheel of his car seems to have struck the grass verge, the car crashing into the hedge forming part of the corner.

Mr. Plunkett was dead in the car when the accident was discovered. It is thought that his head struck the windscreen, or that the steering column of the car caused injuries to his chest.

The accident was discovered by a lorry driver. Difficulty was experienced in getting the body from the car. Mr. Plunkett had been staying at Torquay.

The Hon. Randal Patrick Ralph Oliver Plunkett was a Second Lieutenant in the 5th Royal Inniskilling Dragoon Guards, to which he was gazetted in January, 1934. His mother was Lord Louth's second wife, who died in 1923.

Mr. Plunkett's death reveals the fact that he was married on February 13th. The ceremony took place at Newton Abbot Register Office. Mr. Plunkett's bride was Miss Gwendoline Mary Cowling, a Torquay hairdresser.

Her father, Mr. E. A. Cowling, was formerly a 'bus driver, and is now private chauffeur to the general manager of the Devon General Omnibus Company, whose headquarters are at Torquay.

THE HEIR TO THE TITLE

The marriage recalls the Jersey romance of his step-brother, the Hon. Otway Plunkett, heir to the barony, who is aged 44. He was wedded to Miss Ethel Molly Galichan, daughter of a Southern Railway employé, in July, 1928, at St. Helier.

The wedding was not revealed until 1929. Mrs. Otway Plunkett was for some time during the war employed as a telegraph messenger at the Jersey general post office, and later as a barmaid.

The Plunkett family is one of the most ancient in Ireland. The barony is nearly 400 years old.

Lord Louth, the fourteenth holder of the title, was born in the yacht Pilgrim, off Dieppe, Pilgrim is one of his christian names. He was born in 1868, and has been three times married.

WATERFORD'S RATE OF 17s. 3D.

PROTEST BY THE EX-MAYOR

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

WATERFORD, Tuesday.

THE Waterford Corporation, on the proposition of Mr. James Aylward (Mayor), adopted a rate of 17s. 3d. in the £ for the current financial year, an increase of 1d. in the £ on last year's figure.

After remaining throughout the Committee proceedings, Alderman E. Dawson (F.F.), ex-Mayor, protested against the adoption of the rate at the opening of the subsequent special Council meeting, and left the Council Chamber, followed by nine other members.

Proposing the new rate, the Mayor said that they had not taken on any grandiose schemes, and the estimates included nothing but bare essentials. Out of the entire sum of £58,000 which the new rate would bring, practically £49,000 was mandatory for various bodies to which they contributed, and the Council only directly controlled £9,000 odd, or, roughly, 4s. in the £. The cost of operating the Poor Law system had increased from £4,700 in 1914-15 to £11,900 in 1935-36.

OTHER INCREASES

There had been various other increases in social services, and several new charges had been added. The credit balance of £11,700 with which they started the last financial year had been reduced to £6,900 at the close of the year, and they had to authorise an overdraft of £12,000 to enable them to find £25,000 to £27,000, which was necessary to carry on from the close of the financial year until the rates began to come in again.

He maintained that they should strike a sufficient rate to cover this period, and thus obviate the necessity for an overdraft. The Council's borrowings aggregated roughly £373,000, and their housing loans approximated a quarter of a million pounds. He paid a tribute to Mr. Liam Raftis, the Borough Treasurer, for the manner in which he managed the Corporation estate.

Alderman Keane, in seconding, declared that there was no use in anybody taking up the attitude of Alderman Pawson and his supporters in leaving the Council Chamber. They reminded him, he said, of little children who, when they did not get their way, ran home crying to their mothers. If they did not want the rate struck, they could have remained and spoken against it.

Alderman William Jones declared that the real Fianna Fail members had remained, as they had remained for the past twenty years when, no matter how hard they got it, or how great the opposition, they had stood their ground. He would never agree to the new game of tip-and-run. He hoped that those who had not remained to deal with the city rates would see the error of their ways, and would ask to come back to the Council.

THEFTS FROM POST OFFICE

MAN IT TOOK FOUR YEARS TO CATCH

Sentence of twenty-two months' imprisonment with hard labour was passed at the Old Bailey yesterday on Michael Flynn, aged 47, a postman, and a former company sergeant-major, who pleaded guilty to stealing letters containing money, and asked that forty cases should be taken into consideration.

Mr. John Maddo, prosecuting, said that Flynn came from Dublin. He had been in the service of the Post Office since 1922 and was earning £3 5s. 6d. a week. Losses at the Western District Office, where he was employed, had been heavy, and it had taken four years to "ferret out" the thief.

Sergeant Peacock, who is attached to the Post Office, said that Flynn had been in the Dublin Fusiliers and had served in the war. He had an Army pension of £1 3s. a week. His downfall was due to drink.

Stole a Handbag.—In the Dublin District Court yesterday, Joseph Carr, Mary-as street, Dublin, was sentenced to four months' imprisonment, with hard labour, on a charge of stealing a handbag containing money and personal articles, the property of Miss Eileen Gurney, a visitor from Kilkenny, Scotland. Detective Sergeant Mooney and Detective Officer Mullen had charge of the case.

ELECTION OF CHAIRMAN

HOWTH COUNCIL DIFFICULTY

DECISION TO ASK FOR DIRECTION

THE Local Government Department is to be asked for a direction as to whether the appointment of Mr. F. E. Greenaway at the last meeting as chairman of Howth Urban Council was legal.

The opinion that it was an illegal appointment and that Mr. W. G. Mulvin, the outgoing chairman, was still the occupant of the chair, was expressed at a meeting of the Council last night by Mr. W. Hunter, the Council's solicitor.

Mr. Greenaway was elected by the casting vote of Mr. Mulvin, who, however, did not secure his seat on the Council at the recent election. On the original ballot Mr. Greenaway and Mr. Mulvin had an equal number of votes for the position of chairman.

In view of the doubt about the legality of his appointment Mr. Greenaway vacated the chair at last night's meeting and Mrs. F. E. Jermyn, vice-chairman, presided.

Mr. Hunter claimed that Mr. Mulvin had no power to vote at all on the previous occasion, and, in the case of a tie, the names of the candidates should have been put in a hat and the first name drawn should be appointed. They could, of course, agree unanimously to confirm the appointment of the chairman.

Mr. T. Mullen said that at the meeting on July 9th a resolution was passed instructing the Town Clerk to get a direction from the Local Government Department on the matter. Why was this not done?

Mr. D. J. Greegan, acting Town Clerk, explained that that occurred previous to the meeting and was, therefore, a direction from the members as individuals and not as a council.

Mr. Mullen said that it was obvious from a circular of the Local Government, issued in 1934, that Mr. Greenaway was illegally elected, and he thought the matter should be elucidated by the department. He, therefore, proposed that they seek a direction from the department and that, in the meantime, the business of the Council be adjourned. It was possible, had the chairman been illegally elected, that all the other business of the special meeting was invalidated.

Mr. Cassidy seconded.

Mr. Hunter expressed the opinion that the vice-chairman had been legally elected.

Mr. R. J. Burke said that in view of the present circumstances the chair would have to be filled by a drawing of lots or the tossing of a coin, and he wondered if that would meet the wishes of the great majority of the electors of Howth. He felt there should be a new election, because it seemed to him the proceedings were a bit of opportunism.

The vice-chairman said that she had been informed that she had been legally elected. In her opinion, the adjournment of the business would hold up the work of the ratepayers.

Mr. Cassidy said that an adjournment for four days would not cause very much delay. "I think the ratepayers would be privileged if we never met again," remarked Mr. Burke.

The motion asking for a direction was passed unanimously, but by the casting vote of the chairman it was decided to transact the business.

BUILDING TRADE HOLIDAYS

UNIONS OBJECT TO GENERAL CLOSE DOWN

FROM OUR INDUSTRIAL CORRESPONDENT.

NOTICES have been served on the building trade workers employed by the Dublin Master Builders' Association to the effect that the firms propose to close down in August for annual holidays. The Building Trades Group in the Dublin Trades Union Council has decided to resist this proposal on the grounds that a very large number of workers in the trade would not be entitled to payment for holidays under the Conditions of Employment Act.

The unions hold that there should not be a general close down, as such a step would inflict great hardship on the workers who were forced to take the holidays at their own expense. The matter will be the subject of further discussions before August.

The Dublin Merchants' Warehousing Company has decided, at the request of the Irish Seamen's and Port Workers' Union, to grant a week's holidays with pay to lorry loaders and helpers. These men were regarded as transport workers, and so were not entitled to holidays under the Conditions of Employment Act. They are to be paid at the minimum wage of £3 for their holidays, which are to be completed in all cases before the end of Septeraber.

'BUSMEN'S CLAIMS

Proposals have been submitted to the management of the Dublin United Tramways Company by the Amalgamated Transport and General Workers' Union and the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union for a settlement of the question of 'busmen's bank holiday duties. These proposals are to be considered, and a reply, which will be placed before mass meetings of the men, forwarded to the unions.

ARAB SNIPERS CAPTURED

MORE RAILWAY SABOTAGE

PALESTINE TROUBLES CONTINUED

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

JERUSALEM, Tuesday.

ANOTHER band of Arab snipers that has constantly been harassing British troops has been rounded up by infantry and police south of Safad, Northern Palestine. Two Arabs were killed and rifles and ammunition were captured.

After this operation an accident occurred to an Army lorry in which Sergeant Harrison, of the First Battalion the York and Lancaster Regiment, was killed. The lorry overturned while returning from the scene of operations.

Three fresh cases of railway sabotage are reported. The main railway line, ten miles west of Jerusalem, was damaged early this morning by an explosion. A railway bridge near Tulkarem, scene of numerous disturbances, also was damaged by explosives. A bomb exploded under the seat of an empty compartment in a railway coach at Acre station, causing considerable damage.

Four houses in an Arab village near Jaffa were dynamited to-day because they had been used by snipers to fire on British troops.

It is reported that barracks are to be built at the important railway junction of Tulkarem at a cost of £50,000, and that the military camp at Sarafand, on the coast, is to be extended.

Exemplary punishments imposed by Palestine courts include eight years on an Arab found to be in possession of a Mills bomb when near a Jerusalem quarry in which men were working, and five years on a Hebronite in whose house were found 74 bullets.

BOYLE MURDER CHARGE

SCENE IN POLICE STATION

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BOYLE, Tuesday.

THE taking of depositions was continued to-day in the case in which Thomas Kelly is charged with the murder of Patrick Henry at Greatmeadow, Boyle.

Charles McCormack, said that he saw Kelly playing cards at Boyle Diamond Club on September 10 and 12 last. Kelly always left the club before 11 o'clock, but on the night in question Kelly went out with Peter Reynolds and asked witness to play his hand, leaving witness ten or eleven pence. When Kelly returned witness had won three shillings, but Kelly refused to take it and went playing at another table. When the club closed after 12 Kelly refused to leave. Witness thought that Kelly's complexion had a high colour, as if he had a lot of drink taken.

James Lynch said that on September 10 he was standing outside Boyle Labour Exchange when Kelly came out, and was speaking to witness, when the deceased man, Patrick Henry, approached going to the Exchange. Witness said, "There is your man." Kelly said, "I will do in that ——," using an ugly name.

John Connor, Army reservist, said that he had a conversation with Kelly the last Saturday in August. While they were speaking Henry was approaching, and was within eight yards of them, when he went quickly off the pavement on to the road. Kelly turned his back, and when Henry passed witness said, "Are you not talking to your old butty?" and Kelly replied, "No one could talk to that contrary old ——," using an ugly expression. On the Sunday week later witness saw Kelly coming down the footpath, and Henry coming up. When Henry saw Kelly he went the other side of the street and began looking over the bridge.

Mr. Casey, caretaker, Union Buildings, Boyle, said that on either the 11th or 12th September he met Kelly on the street. Kelly asked him was the 'bus gone. Witness said that he thought the Dublin 'bus was gone, and asked Kelly what direction he wanted to go. Kelly replied: "I don't mind; any direction, as long as I get away from this place."

IDENTIFICATION PARADE

John McKee, booking clerk, in the employment of the Belfast Corporation, said that he identified Kelly from among a dozen men in the parade at Boyle Barracks that morning. He first saw Kelly at a Regent street lodging-house in Belfast on September 12th. He carried a large case, got a ticket for five shillings, and registered under the name of Thomas Mooney. After a week he did not see Kelly there, but on a Saturday last May he saw him there again. Kelly then seemed more haggard in the face.

John McGlacken, who occupied a house near Henry's, said that he never heard any quarrel. Witness never saw any light at night in Henry's house.

Mr. W. Smith, manager, Hibernian Bank, Sligo, said that Kelly opened an account for one hundred pounds on August 30, 1934. In May, 1935, Kelly drew £10 with interest, and on September 12, 1935, he drew £12 with interest, leaving £80, which was still to his credit in the bank.

The deposit receipt came into witness's possession from the North of Scotland Bank on May 21 last.

Detective Officer Brady, Dublin, produced a number of newspaper cuttings giving accounts of the finding of Henry's dead body, and pictures of Kelly, with a request asking him to come forward for an interview.

SEARCH IN SCOTLAND

Witness gave evidence of a search in Scotland for Kelly. Witness was watching Coatbridge Bank the day Kelly was apprehended, but was at lunch at the time. Returning to the police station, he saw Kelly lying on his back on the floor in the corridor, struggling with the police officers who were holding him down.

Doctor White stopped the bleeding from Kelly's neck, and inserted a number of stitches before Kelly was removed to hospital.

The Court adjourned for a week.

BELFAST'S INTEREST IN NEW CONTRACTS

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Tuesday.

The announcement that the Cunard-White Star Company are entering upon negotiations with shipbuilders for the construction of new vessels for their intermediate services, based upon Liverpool and London, is of particular interest to Belfast. Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., are likely to be among the firms that have been asked to tender for these vessels, in view of their long association with the old White Star Line, and also because they were excluded by the Cunard (Insurance) Agreement Act from tendering for the Queen Mary and her sister ship. The new vessels are to be slightly improved vessels of the Georgic and Britannic type, both of which were built at Belfast, and have a speed of 22 knots. The Georgic and Britannic were vessels of 27,000 tons.

FALL OF THE BASTILLE

CELEBRATIONS IN DUBLIN

FRENCH MINISTER'S "AT HOME"

YESTERDAY afternoon the French Minister and Madame Guerlet were "at home" to the members of the French colony in Dublin. It was the celebration of the anniversary of the French Republic, and the guests comprised the members of the French Society and people of French nationality in the Irish Free State.

Madame Guerlet, who wore a becoming frock of brown figured silk, with silver fox furs, received with the Minister, and entertained the guests. The toast of "La France" was given by the Minister, all drinking in response.

M. Jammet, President of the French Colony, read an address to the Minister, congratulating him on the happy reunion and the day, which brought all the citizens of France together. He particularly added the congratulations of the French Colony to M. Guerlet on his promotion to the post of Minister Plenipotentiary (First Class) from the French Government.

Referring to the present political situation, M. Jammet added the good wishes of all outside the country who lived in the hope of seeing all France happily united under the tricolour.

M. GUERLET'S REPLY

The Minister, in the course of his reply, said:—The circumstances through which our country is passing at the moment are particularly difficult. Despite the sacrifices courageously imposed after a war for which she was not responsible, France has not yet been able to remedy completely the depression caused by an economic crisis without precedent. Desirous of hastening its end, she is to-day trying the experiment of new methods. With a view to improving, before all, the lot of the working classes, she has inaugurated several social reforms, which place her in the forefront of nations regarding the legislation of work. Let us hope that "this great effort of social justice and human emancipation" may be crowned with success, and, to quote the French Minister for External Affairs that it "may exalt the patriotism of the French nation. . . ."

In the international, as in the national, sphere, the Government's policy is based on the same ideas of justice and of humanity. You have read the eloquent speeches made to the Chamber of Deputies and to the Assembly in Geneva by the President of the Council and the Minister for External Affairs. After the disappointment suffered by those who have faith in the League of Nations France does not want to shut her eyes to hard facts, but neither does she wish to abandon hope that law will finally triumph over force and that an international code of morals will eventually gain the respect of all nations.

Nothing which may contribute to the peaceful settlement of international conflicts should be neglected. France, who desires peace ardently, not only for herself, but for others, means to do her part to assure its maintenance. May her example be followed by all those nations who, like her, cherish ideals of justice and liberty.

MINISTER'S BROADCAST

Speaking on the radio yesterday evening, M. Pierre Guerlet recalled the history of the capture of the Bastille, and showed the far-reaching consequences of that event. All over Europe, he said, it was understood that the French Revolution was accomplished for the sake of the people, and that their reign was commencing. Abroad, as well as in France, the fall of the Bastille was considered as the symbol of the overthrow of the old régime.

M. Guerlet quoted La Fayette's declaration to the Chamber of Deputies in 1833:—"Just as the 4th July, 1776, saw the dawn of the American era of world liberty—that is, of liberty based on the simple doctrine of natural and social rights—so has the capture of the Bastille been recognised throughout all time as the sign of European emancipation, which had been merely delayed by many obstacles, but which nothing could prevent from realisation."

The Minister added: These words of La Fayette are worthy of recall at a time when certain nations are inclined to obliterate from their history the influence of the French Revolution, forgetting that they themselves benefited from the moral conquests which France was unquestionably the first to achieve.

Alluding to the way in which the news of the French Revolution was received in Dublin, he said: The Irish people, whose ancestors illuminated the streets of Dublin on the day after the 14th July, 1789, and who honour to-day the memory of such patriots as Wolfe Tone, Robert Emmet and Myles Byrne, are joining willingly, I am sure, in the commemoration of the anniversary of the capture of the Bastille, especially since it concerns the National Day of a country which entertains the most friendly relations with their own. The fact that the representative of France has been invited to speak to you to-day on the wireless is proof of this.

M. Guerlet concluded: Faithful to the tradition inaugurated on the 14th July, 1789, the French mean to pursue the realisation of their ideal of justice in peace and liberty; but to-day, as yesterday, despite passing internal troubles, they are ready to unite to safeguard the national patrimony which has been handed down from generation to generation in the course of centuries, and in which figure primarily the immortal principles of the French Revolution.

STATE SCHOOLS DRIVE

GERMAN SUBSIDY CUT

THE Catholic Church has received a heavy blow from the Nazi Government of Bavaria, which has suddenly cut down all State subsidies to the Church by 25 per cent., says a Munich message. This new decree stipulates an even greater sequestration of Church taxes for 1937 and 1938, and leaves the Catholic Church in Bavaria facing a deficit of 17,000,000 marks (about £1,500,000).

This "State-saving" will be utilised to administer Catholic schools taken over by the civil authorities.

The new Nazi "Church control" law reduces the yearly subsidy to both the Catholic and Evangelical Churches to 2.80 marks per communicant. The same decree provides for a still bigger amputation of Church budgets in 1937 and 1938, when the State subsidy—return of Church taxes—will drop first to 2.65 marks and later to 2.50, thereby reducing the Catholic Church funds by 31.5 per cent., and bring about £1,750,000 to the Treasury.

This additional money will be spent in building and modernising the new "schools of German brotherhood," which are fast succeeding the former Catholic elementary schools throughout Bavaria.

The "Nazi, take your child from confessional schools" drive has already swept about half of Bavaria's Catholic's schools into the hands of the State. The new law also transfers a great part of the funds for running them. The Evangelical Church in Bavaria is also a great sufferer under the new decree. By 1938 it is estimated that it will have yielded to the Government about £3,000,000.

FATE OF MRS. C. BRYANT

HER APPEAL TO THE KING

Mrs. Charlotte Bryant, aged 35, the mother of five children, is to be executed at Exeter Jail this morning for the murder of her husband, Frederick John Bryant, aged 30, a cowman, of Coombe, Dorset, by poisoning him with weed-killer. She has made a final appeal to the King in the following telegram from her cell:—

"Mighty King, have pity on your lowly afflicted subject. Don't let them kill me on Wednesday. Ask them to give Mrs. Van Der Elst an opportunity of saying what would prove my innocence. From brink of the cold, dark grave. I am a poor helpless woman. I ask you not to let them kill me. I am innocent."

Prayers for Mrs. Bryant were offered continually in Roman Catholic churches in Exeter yesterday.

Old Woman Assaulted.—At a special Court in Carrick-on-Shannon District Hospital yesterday Aloysius Early, of Corlough, Carrick-on-Shannon, was charged with assaulting his grand aunt, Jane Guckian (73), by striking her on the head with an iron bar. He was remanded on £25 bail. The old woman, who owns a farm of 100 acres, stated that on Saturday night a neighbour, James Gilbane, came in and made tea for her. After he had gone out a tall man came in and struck her on the head and hand, inflicting injuries, for which she is being treated in hospital. The man who struck her was not the accused man, Early.

SEQUEL TO DUBLIN MARRIAGE

JUDGMENT IN LIVERPOOL CASE

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.

JUDGMENT was delivered by the Vice-Chancellor of the Lancashire Chancery Court (Sir Courthope Wilson, K.C.) at Liverpool to-day in an action concerning money paid by the mother of a bride. All the parties were of the Jewish religion. The plaintiffs were Mrs. Helen Landau and her daughter, Mrs. Tillie Spiro, of Palmerston Gardens, Dublin; and the defendant was Mrs. Spiro's husband, Joseph Spiro, of Avondale road, Liverpool.

The plaintiffs asked for the repayment to Mrs. Landau of £600, stated to have been lent to Mr. Spiro in January, 1935, and for a declaration that money standing to the credit of the joint account of Mr. and Mrs. Spiro was the sole and absolute property of Mrs. Spiro; and Mr. Spiro claimed a declaration that the money was held in trust for him, and also payment by Mrs. Landau of £500.

Giving judgment, the Vice-Chancellor said that he was quite satisfied that the £900 in the joint account was a trust fund, and that Mr. Spiro was a trustee for his wife. He made an order vesting the money in Mrs. Spiro, and ordered that Mrs. Landau should recover £600, with interest.

The Vice-Chancellor gave the plaintiffs, whom he thought were entitled to be relieved, the costs of the claim and counter-claim, and dismissed the counter-claim.

The case for the plaintiffs was that Mrs. Landau promised to find £1,500 towards a house and furniture before the wedding. She advanced £600 to Mr. Spiro, which was to be repaid, and £900 was deposited in the joint names of the daughter and Mr. Spiro. There were quarrels during the honeymoon, and Mrs. Spiro, after an operation, returned to her mother.

DEFENDANT'S DENIALS

Mr. Spiro stated that it was never suggested that the £500 was a loan, and declared that Mrs. Landau said that she was prepared to give £2,000, of which £1,500 was for his business, and £500 towards furnishing a flat. He denied that he stated he would not provide his wife with maintenance until she handed over control of her money.

Mr. Spiro said that on one occasion Mrs. Landau said: "I do not want you for a son-in-law. I want you for a son."

He added that if he had received the balance of the dowry more shops would have been opened. "I want my wife to come back to me," said Mr. Spiro.

For the defendant, Mr. Lyon Blease submitted that Mr. Spiro was a very simple man, an honest and industrious subordinate, who made it perfectly clear that he was looking forward to having capital put at his disposal, which would enable him to increase his income and maintain a wife.

OLD CONTEMPTIBLES' CAMP ABANDONED

The scheme for a gathering of 2,000 Mons men at Shorncliffe, Kent, from August 22 to August 29, has had to be cancelled because of its unexpected popularity.

The Secretary of the Old Contemptibles' Association (Mr. T. S. Quick) told a reporter last night that it had been found that the cost was beyond what had been anticipated.

"Two thousand men had planned this as their holiday, and that is 1,500 more than we anticipated. Over 100 men were coming from Scotland and 30 from Dublin. To have brought them such distances would have cost too much, but we hope to hold the camp next year."

BIG OMAGH FIRE

RANGE OF HOUSES DESTROYED

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

OMAGH, Tuesday.

Considerable damage has been caused by a fire which broke out in the early hours of this morning at Omagh and completely demolished a range of buildings in Sedan avenue, consisting of the offices and store of the Inspector of Weights and Measures for County Tyrone, the County Tyrone Tuberculosis Dispensary, and a large motor repair garage, now occupied by Mr. William Charleton. The entire buildings are the property of the Tyrone Farming Society, on whose property they are situated, and were corrugated iron structures. The office used by the secretary of the Farming Society and a pavilion used for housing exhibits during the show were also destroyed. The blaze was discovered about 2 a.m. and the Urban Council and military fire brigades were summoned and made a prompt turn-out. The fire had, however, gained such a firm hold on the buildings that there was little hope of saving them, but the brigades worked strenuously for over four hours before the flames were subdued. A large quantity of stores, motor accessories and repair plant were destroyed. The Tyrone County Council lost the standard weights and measures of the county and also a quantity of medicines and medical appliances. The buildings are covered by insurance.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

MANSUR'S VICTORY

Poor Display of Bobsleigh in Dullingham Stakes

NEWMARKET, Tuesday Night.

TWO of the races at the first stage of the Newmarket Second July meeting to-day were won by horses bred in France and America. Both Mansur and Perifox were clearly superior to the home-bred candidates in their respective races.

Lord Derby's colt, Bobsleigh, gave a disappointing display in the Dullingham Stakes, for which he was made an odds-on favourite. He never appeared likely to justify his market position.

Mansur left no doubt in the minds of onlookers as to his excellence after the stylish manner in which he won the event. The four-year-old finished with his jockey Carslake looking unconcernedly at the desperate efforts of Gordon Richards to get Impression on challenging terms.

Bobsleigh was one of the last two from beginning to end, and made a poor effort to respond to the calls of Perryman. Mansur is evidently a true stayer, and is likely to play a big part in other long-distance races before the season ends.

Weight Beats Hesperus

Hesperus made a valiant attempt to carry his big weight to victory in the Saxham Stakes. He beat everyone of his twenty-three rivals except Terror, to whom he was conceding 17lb.

Terror was first away and won without being headed, while Hesperus was always master of the others. It was disappointing to find the favourite, Nexus, unable to get in a blow. He never improved on a moderate position.

Had Terror been well drawn at the last meeting here he might have beaten Lady of Shalott. He was well favoured in this respect to-day.

The lead changed hands four times during the race for the Soltykoff Stakes, which was won by Perifox from Phakos. After Monocle had been in front from the start, Bibi Sahiba was the leader at half-way. Closer home it was Phakos who was "shouted," but they were all soundly beaten by Perifox, who raced up to the rails to win in impressive style.

A 100 to 7 Chance

He is owned by Mr. William Woodward, and is by Gallant Fox. Perifox was a 100 to 7 chance.

Tara nearly brought off a third victory for a "foreigner" in the Beaufort Stakes. It was only a late run by Harry Wragg on Crumpets that prevented the victory of the French-bred filly.

Gordon Richards had dashed away on Fleetfoot. He kept his lead for fully five furlongs, at which stage his mount began to weaken. Tara then dominated the situation until Crumpets came on the scene.

Fairshaw, joint-favourite with Fleetfoot, was running on to gain third place. He beat the King's colt, Curraghmore, by a narrow margin for that position. Wood-pulp, who was well fancied, finished last.

Patball Lasts it Out

Patball lasted out just long enough up the final hill in the Spring Hall Plate to get the better of Perambulator by a head. The winner was drawn on the outside of the field, but as there were only seven runners that was not a serious handicap.

Allensford, an equal favourite with Patball, did not stay the distance. He was easily beaten for second place.

Gordon Richards gave his supporters a good start by winning the Trial Selling Plate on Nevertheless. As Mrs. Hartigan's horse was drawn on the far side his victory was thoroughly deserved. The winner, however, who was in front throughout, was tiring rapidly in the closing stages.

GOODWOOD POINTERS

Solerina Selected to Win the July Handicap

RACEGOERS may obtain a few pointers for the Stewards' Cup at Newmarket to-day, as most of the runners for the July Handicap are also engaged in the important Goodwood sprint.

Captain O. Bell runs two of his three Goodwood entries—namely, Finalist and Greenore. Finalist, although a failure at the previous meeting here, has the better chance on this year's form. He ran a creditable sixth under 9st. 1lb. in the Royal Hunt Cup. His last running is probably best ignored, as he did not strike off in his usual quick style, and was hopelessly placed at half-way.

Gynerium ran well under a big weight in the July Cup, on which form he should again finish in front of Greenore. In his only other race this season he was third to Bellacose and Makila at Ascot.

Night Patrol II. appears to have his full share of the weight. Solerina and Gay Venture were second and fourth, separated by less than a length, in the race won by Slap and Tickle over the same course and distance a fortnight ago. As Gay Venture has a pull of 2lb. he has been given a nice chance. Nevertheless, I prefer Solerina, because she is a genuine filly and a model of consistency.

Buckland has been dropped in the scale as the result of his Hunt Cup running. In that race he was weighted on the same mark as Solerina, whereas here he receives 4lb. He will be hard to beat if he reproduces earlier form. I think that The Dentist will take care of Kinderscout and Berkeley Hunt, though for the winner I shall name

SOLERINA.

Some of the best three-year-old fillies will meet in the Falmouth Stakes. Lovely Rosa finished in front of Traffic Light and Tide-way in the Oaks, but there was a different story to tell in the Coronation Stakes over a mile at Ascot.

TRAFFIC LIGHT

proved herself much superior to the others on that occasion. I believe that she will win again here, though she may not have much to spare over Tide-way. The soft going will be to the liking of Tide-way, who has a pull of 7lb. compared with Ascot.

Dark Vixen, Puzzler and Guibray have the best chances in the Two-Year-Old Sale Stakes. I prefer on the strength of her good second to Hybrid II., a winner since at Windsor.

DARK VIXEN

FITENOOR

won so easily at Salisbury that I cannot oppose him in the Zetland Stakes.

STARFLYER

may win the Apprentice Plate at a good price. He is an easy horse to ride and useful over a mile.

NEWMARKET HINTS FOR TO-DAY

In the Apprentice Plate at Newmarket to-day I am looking forward to the success of

STARFLYER.

J. Jarvis will be doubly represented in the Falmouth Stakes by Trelissia and Crested Crane. The latter may prove to be the better, but I expect to see show that her form at Ascot in the Coronation Stakes was much below her best, and I anticipate that she will win this event for Lord Derby.

We have some useful sprinters engaged in the July Handicap. Gay Venture may beat Kinderscout at level weights and Buckland has been going well in his gallops since the going became yielding. Night Patrol II. is very well, but I shall rely on who should now be thoroughly fit and difficult to beat.

GYNERIUM (next best),

There will be more than twenty runners for the Kirtling Selling Plate. Tarquin is, no doubt, a useful plater, as is Schoolmaster, but has been shaping so well in her gallops since she was fourth to Silver Pippin at our last meeting that she must have my vote.

There should be a good race between Puzzler and for the Two-Year-Old Sale Stakes, and Sir A. Bailey's filly, who is right at the top of her form, is given the preference.

DARK VIXEN

The pick of those due to run for the Zetland Plate are Hymettus and FITENOOR (nap).

The latter won with a good deal in hand at Salisbury, and there is no telling how good he may be. I again give him a confident vote.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Closing of Entries

Entries close to-day for the Merrion Plate at Phœnix Park, the Stillorgan Plate at Leopardstown, the Greenpark Hurdle and Limerick Steeplechase at Limerick, all races at Tramore, and two races at Tuam. This is the last day for naming mares for the Leopardstown Produce Stakes, 1939.

The Irish Oaks

Three English-trained candidates will be among the field for the Irish Oaks, to be run at the Curragh, next Wednesday, namely, Silversol, from Peacock's stable; Yuma (Captain Boyd-Rochfort), and Eastway (Thrale).

Irish Horses for Abroad

Our Curragh correspondent states that Mr. J. T. Rogers has made further shipments of racehorses to destinations abroad. To Belgium he has sent Grease Spot and Talker, and Royal Task, Grito and Hereditary have been shipped to clients in India.

Fair Trial Doubtful for Eclipse

Mr. Fred Darling, the Beckhampton trainer, states that Fair Trial has developed leg trouble and is a very doubtful starter for the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown on Friday. Fair Trial is one of the best four-year-olds in training. He has won three out of his four races this season, including the Spring Plate at Newmarket, in which he beat Bobsleigh; the Rous Memorial Stakes at Ascot, and the Lingfield Park Plate as recently as Friday last.

MALLOW PROGRAMME

White Vixen May Win First of Two-Year-Old Handicaps

Trains—Kingsbridge, 9.30 a.m., 11 a.m.

THE programme for Mallow this afternoon lacks nothing in the way of variety; for it includes two steeplechases and a hurdle race as well as flat races. The Spa Plate, the first two years old handicap of the season, will attract five runners, and of these White Vixen and Ballyedmond boast the best credentials. It looks as if either will win, and the preference is for White Vixen.

Cabin Fire is set a stiff task in the Mallow Steeplechase, and may not beat the lightly-weighted Mamma II. Selections:—

Duhallow Plate—Salesman.
Buttevant Steeplechase—Hoar Abbey.
Spa Plate—White Vixen.
Mallow Plate—Mamma II.
Doneraile Plate—Snack Bar.
Fermoy Plate—Atco.

ANGLING

WATERVILLE, CO. KERRY

The weather was fine and dry last week, and showers on a few nights did not make much improvement in water conditions, especially in the rivers of the district, all of which were very low. A large number of rods were out in Waterville Lake, and on suitable days good takes of sea trout were secured.

Weather conditions were ideal for sea-angling, and excellent sport was enjoyed at Waterville and Valentia.

LOUGH ENNEL

The Shark Catchers' Association, Mullingar, held their annual competition on Lough Ennel on Sunday last. The following were the prize winners—Derevaragha Club (two prizes, Mr. Collins and Mr. Killiard), Shark Catchers' Association (two prizes, J. S. Stenson and N. Tottenham), Knockmaroon Angling Club (one prize, R. H. Allen). The Knockmaroon Angling Club had four entries—P. J. Clinton, J. T. Moraghan, W. McCormack and R. H. Allen, and justified their initial appearance in this competition by winning the McLoughlin Challenge Cup.

YACHTING

BRITISH-AMERICAN CUP WON OUTRIGHT

The United States six metre team gained their fourth successive victory in the contest for the British-American Cup on the Firth of Clyde yesterday, defeating Great Britain by 20½ points to 16 points. By this victory they win the trophy outright, having a match in hand from the 1934 contest at Long Island Sound. Britain's last win in the series was in 1928 on the Clyde. Since then the American team have won fifteen races, including the present series, without suffering a single defeat. Brilliant team work, allied to individual skill on the part of the American helmsmen, was the feature of the present series of races.

ANNE II. SCORES AGAIN

Heavy rain delayed the start of the re-sailed Ladies' Wag Race last evening, and, furthermore reduced the competitors to eight boats, which were sent away at 7.10 p.m., Alfa leading through the line. The wind was light and patchy from south-west, and the starboard course gave a fairly easy beat from the Melampus to the jetty buoy. Alfa led for two rounds, Marie Louise being second—the first time, and Anne II. the second. Anne II., indeed, was dangerously close to Alfa at this stage, and took the coal harbour mark from her, the finish of a good race being timed:—

	h.	m.	s.
Anne II. (winner)—Hon. Miss B. Campbell	8	9	36
Alfa (2nd prize)—Miss S. Armstrong	8	9	58
Jacqueline (3rd prize)—Mrs. F. J. Henry	8	10	22

AEROPLANE CRASHES INTO HAYFIELD

While flying over Winkfield, near Windsor, yesterday an aeroplane crashed into a hayfield on Chawridge Farm, and the pilot, Cyril Joseph Patrick Gordon, aged 20, of White Waltham, Berks, was seriously injured and taken to Maidenhead Hospital. The 'plane was flying at a height of several thousand feet when it suddenly nose-dived and narrowly missed Major George Fox, who was haymaking in a field. The nose of the 'plane was buried in the ground.

Major Fox and several men dragged the pilot out of the wrecked machine.

The first Committee meeting of the Dun Laoghaire Branch of the Irish Leaseholders' Association was held on Monday night in the Town Hall, Dun Laoghaire. Mr. Delaney, Urban District Councillor, presided. Many leading business and public men of the town attended.

CRICKET

RAIN SAVES NOTTS

Glamorgan's First Success : Fine Victory for Surrey

THOUGH Sibbles achieved his best performance of the season in taking seven wickets for 36 against Derbyshire at Manchester, the match fizzled out into a tame draw. Each side claimed four points in a game in which there had been less than four hours' cricket.

Yorkshire had an exasperating experience at Bradford, where, wanting only 35 runs to beat Notts, with all their wickets standing, they were robbed by rain. A thunderstorm put an end to the game, Yorkshire taking first innings points. Remarkable scenes were witnessed when the players continued on the field in torrential rain, and the umpires and Notts captain came in for much abuse from a crowd of 2,500. When spectators walked on to the playing area and tried to argue with Umpire Braund, police turned them off.

After being 115 behind Kent on the first innings, Surrey gained a great victory by four wickets at Blackheath. They hit up 191 in under two hours and a half. Watt (Kent) and Govers and Watts (Surrey) bowled splendidly, and Sandham, Barling and Brooks batted finely for Surrey.

At Swansea, Glamorgan, defeating Leicestershire by ten wickets, gained their first win of the season. Mercer, in four overs, took four wickets for 8 runs. A sparkling innings by Bakewell, who hit nine 4's, and magnificent bowling by Clark, their fast left-hander, gave Northants the points for the first innings lead over Sussex at Rushden. Gloucester got rid of Warwickshire for their lowest score of the season at Edgbaston, and the Western county claimed the points for the first innings lead.

At Colchester, Middlesex took major points in a drawn game with Essex. Hendren batted finely, and Smith bowled well for Middlesex.

AMARNATH MAY RETURN

Reports from India that the Board of Control have reinstated Amarnath, who was sent home from England as a disciplinary measure, came as a complete surprise yesterday to the Maharaj Kumar of Vizianagram, the captain of the All India team. "I have heard nothing from India on the subject at all," said the Maharaj Kumar, "and until I receive official intimation from the Board of Control I can make no comment."

The Maharaj Kumar is in London waiting to receive his knighthood, and the remainder of the team are spending a few days resting at Blackpool. Major C. K. Nayudu, who is acting as captain in the match against Lancashire at Liverpool to-day, said: "We are all very happy to hear that Amarnath is likely to play with us again. I am immensely pleased to hear the news."

ROWING

SIX TROPHIES FOR TRINITY

SPLENDID RACING AT BANN REGATTA

Bann Rowing Club's annual regatta at Coleraine yesterday provided a splendid day's racing. There were twenty-three races, and in many of these there were close and exciting finishes. The feature attracted a holiday crowd of large dimensions, but unfortunately heavy rain during the afternoon made matters somewhat unpleasant for spectators.

Of the competing clubs, Trinity College fared remarkably well, winning six of the ten trophies, including the Senior Eights, in the final of which they took a revenge on Portadown for an earlier defeat in the Senior Fours.

A broken slide deprived Trinity Maiden Four of success against Bann, who thereby secured a lead of about three lengths, but in the end could only win by two feet. Trinity carried off all three eight-oared events. Details:—

MAIDEN FOURS.

Heat A—Dublin University (H. L. S. Hamilton, stroke), 1; Belfast Commercial (H. M. Rea), 2. Won by two lengths. Belfast Boat Club scratched.

Heat B—Bann (W. Nicholson), 1; University College, Dublin (J. O'Mara), 0. Won easily.

Final—Bann, 1; Dublin University, 0. Won by two feet. No. 3 in Trinity boat broke his slide shortly after the start, when they were slightly ahead. They restarted after losing about three lengths, and, as the result indicates, they made a spirited recovery. It was a thrilling finish.

UNDER-AGE FOURS.

Final—Bann (T. C. Neill), 1; Portadown (N. Willis), 0. Won by two and a half lengths. University College, Dublin, scratched.

JUNIOR SCULLS.

Final—T. Shillington (Dublin University), 1; H. Cunningham (Queen's University, Belfast), 0. Won by a length and a half.

SECOND SENIOR FOURS.

Heat A—Dublin University (S. H. Cooke), 1; Portadown (D. Guy), 0. University College scratched. Won by three lengths.

Heat B—Derry and Old Collegians, Dublin, scratched.

Heat C—Bann (J. Cameron), 1; Belfast Commercial (J. E. Meganney), 0. Won by four lengths.

Final—Dublin University, 1; Bann, 0. Won by two and a half lengths.

JUNIOR EIGHTS.

Heat B—Dublin University (J. E. Gillespie), 1; Belfast Commercial (A. Blackburn), 0. Won by two and a half lengths.

Heat A—University College Dublin (G. Ryan), 1; Portadown (N. Willis), 2; Carrick-on-Shannon, 0. Won by a canvas; three-quarters length.

Final—Dublin University, 1; University College, Dublin, 0. Won by a length and a half.

Heat B—Portadown (A. Douglas), 1; Derry (H. Lee), 2; Bann (W. McGrath), 0. Won by two lengths; same.

Final—Portadown, 1; Dublin University, 0. Won by three-quarters of a length.

MAIDEN EIGHTS.

Final—Dublin University (H. L. S. Hamilton), 1; Bann (W. Nicholson), 2; University College, Dublin (J. O'Mara), 0. Won by three lengths; three feet.

DROGHEDA CEMENT FACTORY

PROPOSED RAIL CONNECTION

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.
DROGHEDA, Tuesday.

At a meeting of the Drogheda Harbour Board to-day a letter was read from the Managing Director of Cement, Ltd., asking for the use of the Board's plant to drive test piles for a wharf along the River Boyne, opposite their new factory at Greenhills, Drogheda.

The Mayor of Drogheda, Alderman L. J. Walsh, said that a deputation from the Board had come to an arrangement with the company to place at the company's disposal all their plant, the company to meet the wages bill and other expenses, and make good any damage to the plant.

The Board unanimously approved of the arrangement.

Mr. J. M. Collins proposed that a committee be formed to go into the question of laying a railway track to connect the quays with the railway station, in conjunction with the proposed line to the new cement factory.

Mr. R. Murdock asked were the cement factory linking up with the railway or the railway people with the cement factory.

The Mayor said that he thought the cement people, in their own interests, were taking the step. He had no information as to who was bearing the cost. In their own interests, the railway company should take steps in the matter of the connection with the quays. To commit the Board to the colossal expense of a railway would be foolish.

Mr. A. W. Archer said that some years ago a plan was drawn up for connecting the quays with the railway, and an estimate of £12,000 was given for the work. An engineer had stated since that the price now would be three or four times that amount.

A committee was appointed to deal with the matter.

LAWN TENNIS

RAIN AGAIN SPOILS PLAY

COUNTY DUBLIN TITLES AT CARRICKMINES

Rain came at a most inopportune time at Carrickmines yesterday, stopping play at what should have been the busiest part of the evening's play in the County Dublin Championships, and so heavily did it fall that play ended quite early. The courts had recovered well in the early part of the day, and several matches were played off in the championship singles.

Severer forehand driving gave C. F. Scroope a straight set victory over T. V. Murphy, but there was little between them, the loser retrieving well. H. F. Cronin gained a comfortable victory over M. A. Tannam to reach the third round of the championship singles, but Tannam put up a good fight in the second set.

An injury to her leg has caused Miss N. Stoker trouble lately, and as it has not recovered completely yet, she retired to Miss L. Hutton in the first round of the women's singles, when each had won a set. Miss V. Mahony, who is now favourite for the title, had no easy passage against the steady Mrs. H. Fitzherbert. Mrs. C. B. Martin finished strongly to beat Miss B. Good after losing the second set, while Miss A. Darley got the better of a hard-hitting duel with Miss P. Myerscough in the third round. Results:—

KARACHI LETTERS MISSING

INDIAN AIR MAIL MYSTERY

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
KARACHI, Tuesday.

Following the revelation of the mysterious disappearance of some thousand letters despatched by the recent Mount Everest expedition, the European Chamber of Commerce here now complain of the non-delivery of over fifty air-mail letters posted from Karachi during the last six months.

The attention of the postal authorities has been drawn to these statements.

The members declare that the letters were stamped and posted under the postal certificate of the Chamber, but never arrived in England or at other continental destinations. A searching inquiry has been demanded.

GOLF

W. LARGE LEADING BY ONE

Good Scoring by Irishmen at Dollymount

BY OUR GOLF CORRESPONDENT.

LEADING the field at the close of the first round of the Open Championship of Ireland at Dollymount last evening was William Large, of Liverpool Municipal. He finished with 69, but several times his position was seriously challenged, and by none was the challenge so well sustained as by William Nolan, of the Portmarnock Club, who went within a couple of inches on the home hole of tieing with the Liverpool man, his ball from his first putt of about six yards drawing up that much short when it seemed as if it must find the hole.

Two strokes below Large were P. Stevenson, of the Royal Portrush Club, one of the Irish professional team, and, emerging from his prolonged retirement from championship golf, William McConnell, runner-up to Captain Ernest Carter in the Close Championship at Portmarnock in 1919 (he was also twice the beaten finalist at Rosse's Point), surprised us with a splendid round of 71 to take a place in the first eight. Another Irish amateur who distinguished himself was J. D. MacCormack, who on the last green ran down a glorious long putt to bring his score to 72. P. Mahon, the Royal Dublin professional, is but four strokes behind, one better than the Irish professional champion, Syd Fairweather.

TESTING CONDITIONS

The leading amateurs are McConnell (who many years ago got his Cap for Ireland at Association football when playing right fullback for Bohemians) and the South African, A. D. Locke. The latter finished first amateur in the Open Championship at Royal Liverpool recently, and, as he has proved his staying powers at Hoylake, he will give the best of our amateurs a run for their prize.

Another eighteen holes will be played today, and then the sixty best scores and those who tie for sixtieth place will be re-drawn for the final thirty-six holes to-morrow.

Neither of the Americans—Turner nor Goggin—turned up, nor did they notify the hon. secretary that they would not be coming; but no one on the course seemed to miss either so intent were they on watching the play of the better-known competitors.

The conditions throughout were about right, but many of us would have preferred the wind coming in from the bay, instead of straight down the course. Then it would have been more uniform and we would not, perhaps, have been listening to the same cut and dried story of out in 32 or 33—it would likely have been a few strokes more for the best of them. But if they had the wind favouring to such an extent that they were able to reach the second and third greens with driver and mashie-niblick they found the holes in—with the exception of the 15th—tough enough, so tough, in fact, that several of those who turned potential course record-breakers were struggling to keep in the low seventies.

Dollymount withstood the test applied to it by those mighty hitters: we had no 66's to disturb Ernest Whitcombe's figures of 1931—nor will there be, as long as the conditions remain as they were yesterday.

A TONIC FOR NOLAN

Large laid the foundation of his magnificent 69 (it would not be ranked as such on the other side, where, as they told us on Sunday, they would not stand for such narrow fairways and rough) on the holes out. He played every stroke perfectly to the turn, driving grandly, and laying his pitches close to the hole; indeed, his one really slack stroke was a pulled drive to the tenth (it is very nasty over there), and then only was he off the line.

A good start is very encouraging, and Nolan's 3, 4, 3, to begin with, acted as a tonic. His golf reminded us of the game he played when breaking the record for the old links at St. Andrews, and to the turn he had fours and threes for an outward nine of 32. Bunkered at the tenth, he could not get his four there, and although near the fourteenth green with a drive and spoon—these were very long strokes—he lost another there. But he then reeled off a series of fours to the end, just missing a three at the home hole which would have given him a score of 69—it was a grand round.

Another of those who went out in 32 was Stevenson, who had to thank his putting for his figures. Not that he played any slack strokes through the green, but his putting was perfect. On six of the first eleven greens he required but one putt; but the holes in proved for him as difficult as they did for the others, and he just failed to beat 71. McConnell also was four under fours for the first nine, the fifth costing him a rather disappointing six. Another six came his way at the fourteenth; but his 71 was a very excellent round.

SOUND PUTTING BY A. D. LOCKE

Sound, accurate putting featured the golf of the South African amateur, A. D. Locke, who never needed more than two on any green, but all his strokes were played with precision, and fine length and straightness with the wood made it comparatively easy for this finished golfer. He was 34 out and 37 back. A. J. Isherwood finished in the same score as Locke, and the only disfigurement in Syd Easterbrook's card was a six at the tenth; but he did not save the stroke at the home hole. He was out in 32, with a two at the fourth, and turning for home the holder, Ernest Whitcombe, was in a similar position. A five for him at the second was not brilliant; but then came a remarkable row of threes—five in all—and a brace of fours left him four under for the nine. He, however, will have to do better scores than 73 to retain the championship. He had six at the eleventh and fourteenth; but it is easy even for Whitcombes to lose strokes at these holes in such a wind.

One of the unfortunate ones — really unfortunate—was J. Jarman. Out in 33, despite being over the green at the fourth and in the rough at the eighth with a good drive, he would have had a 68, for the lead, had he got 3, 4, 4, at the finishing holes; but a 5 at the 16th was followed by a deplorable 7 at the 17th. There he found the bunker on the left, and a very exaggerated stance for the shot. The ball came back, and, with three putts, he lost three most valuable strokes, his score being 73.

JAMES ADAMS LOOKED TIRED

James Adams, who, with any of the luck, would have been Open champion, could not get going. Perhaps he seemed a bit over-played, but anyway his putting was out. He lost his touch on the greens and was much too heavy with the putter, over-running the hole and failing to get the next down. In that way he was forty out, and he just escaped the eighties.

The Irish Professional champion, Syd Fairweather, with a 6 at the fifth, where he was in the bent, was 33 for nine, but at a few holes on the homeward journey had three putts and another six at the 15th. Still, with 74, he is by no means out of the big money.

The Irish Close champion, J. Burke, although taking four at the 9th. went to the 10th tee having expended but 33 strokes. He drove one of his very best to the 10th, and intended playing an easy No. 3 for his second, but people walked behind him, and up went the head and down went the ball into the drain. It cost him a penalty stroke, and a six for the hole must have disturbed his concentration for the remainder of the round. He never recovered, and 41 for the inward half and a score of 74 means that he will have to make up some ground to get near the top.

In view of the lengthened course the figures of W. Large are interesting. Here they are:
Out—433343344—31
In—553554344—38

THE MOTOR TRADES AT DELGANY

The Motor and Allied Trades concluded their meeting at Delgany yesterday in unfavourable weather conditions. The morning was fine, but rain commenced to fall heavily at lunch time, and it continued throughout the fourball competition. Still, there was a very good entry for both competitions—53 for the Jacob Cup and 60 for the fourball.

In the Jacob Cup, which was played against bogey, scoring was very good, C. W. Huet and H. O. Stanley tying with 5 up. The play off for the trophy will take place over the Delgany course on Friday next. Despite the rain in the afternoon the scoring was even better, 8 up being returned by two pairs—J. J. Cooney and J. Shaw and G. Ellis and S. M. Bradshaw. The former won first prize on a cut of the cards.

The putting competitions which were held during the meeting realised £35 for charity. Mrs. J. C. Holland (Belfast), wife of the newly-elected President, presented the prizes. Results:—

CIRCUIT (CRIMINAL) COURT

LARCENY OF A RING

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT.)

Kathleen Breen (20), domestic servant, pleaded guilty to having stolen a ring, valued at £5, belonging to Mrs. M. Taylor, Belmont avenue, Donnybrook.

Mrs. Kathleen Dunne, Milltown, cousin of the accused girl, said that Breen was about to be married at the time she took the ring.

Thomas Kelly (21), Churchtown road, Rathgar, said that he intended marrying the accused girl at the beginning of next month.

Judge Davitt said that he would postpone sentence until the Court in October. The girl would be allowed out on bail, with Mrs. Dunne as surety.

Detective Officers Golden and Pluck had charge of the case.

Mr. M. J. Connolly, K.C. (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor), prosecuted. Mr. Trant McCarthy, solicitor, was for the defence.

A LOST WALLET

Thomas Kinsella, 5 Railway street, Dublin, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having, on April 20th last, stolen a wallet containing 30s. and two rings from Frank McCormack, Malahide road, in a public-house at Ballydowd.

Frank McCormack said that the accused man took him into the public-house yard to speak to him privately about getting him a job in the Irish Sweepstakes, and took the wallet out of his pocket there. He struck Kinsella, who dropped the wallet and ran off. Witness never got his wallet again, as he was jostled by several people in the yard.

Sergeant John Healy, Lucan, said that when charged Kinsella replied: "I am innocent."

Kinsella, in giving evidence, said that he saw McCormack struggling with another man in the yard, and tried to separate them. He did not touch McCormack or his wallet.

He was found not guilty and discharged.

TALE OF A MIDNIGHT DRIVE

Jane Dwane (aged 25 years), 48 Newmarket, Dublin, was charged with stealing from John Doyle, dairy proprietor, Balrothery, Tallaght, Co. Dublin, a wallet containing £46 in notes, some postal orders and other documents.

Doyle said that when he was driving home at 2 a.m. on 7th July a woman stopped him in Harcourt street and asked for a lift. When she got in she asked him for a drink, and he refused. She got down at Stamer street and staggered towards a gate way. He drove home and found that his wallet was gone from his hip pocket. He returned and reported the fact to the police at Rathmines. With Sergeant Hingerty, he went to 48 Newmarket, and in a room there saw four women in bed. He identified Dwane. He had his wallet five minutes before he met the accused woman.

Sergeant J. Hingerty said that Doyle pointed out the accused woman in the bedroom. When charged she said: "I know nothing about it. I took no money." At the police station she said: "I have nothing to say."

The accused woman, giving evidence, said that in Harcourt street Doyle had pulled up and asked her to go for a drive, and she got into the car.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

RAID ON AN ORCHARD

Between twenty and thirty men went into an orchard a year and a half ago, with the result that four of them were put forward on trial yesterday before Judge Davitt in the Circuit Criminal Court.

Henry Keogh, 31 Liffey street, and Maurice Behan, 40 Phœnix street, Inchicore, pleaded guilty to riotous assembly with a number of others at Kilmainham.

Martin Moran, St. Mary's terrace, Sarsfield road, Inchicore, and James Mulien, St. Mary's avenue, Inchicore, pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and to a charge of assaulting John Kelly at the orchard.

Mr. T. Forbes (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted.

Mr. Hooper (instructed by Mr. P. C. Moore) appeared for the defendants, and said that Keogh and Behan, who pleaded guilty, were members of the Railway Club at Inchicore, and were respectable, hard-working men in constant employment. With the others, they took some apples to eat, but not to dispose of. They did not strike Kelly.

Inspector Kane, who gave the men a good character, said that about a stone and a half of apples had been taken. There were between twenty and thirty men present. He did not think the apples were taken to be disposed of.

The case of the men who had pleaded "not guilty" was postponed.

Behan and Keogh were allowed out on their own recognisances to be of good behaviour for two years. They were also ordered to place £2 in the District Court poor box.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

DRUNK IN CHARGE

SENTENCE REDUCED

(BEFORE JUDGE SHANNON.)

David Grierson, "Morven," Ballymun road, Dublin, appealed from a sentence of six weeks' imprisonment passed upon him by the District Court Justice on a charge of having been drunk in charge of a motor car.

Mr. F. Sherry (instructed by Mr. L. Trant McCarthy) appeared for the appellant.

Mr. Geary (Chief State Solicitor's Office) appeared for the Guards.

Dr. J. Lavan, who examined the appellant at the Guards' Station, Pearse street, at 11.10 on the night concerned, stated that the appellant was drunk.

Guard M. McCabe stated that he saw the appellant in his motor car after an accident. He told witness that a taxi was driven blindly, and that he swerved to avoid it. The man appeared dazed and smelled of drink. Witness took him to the Guards' Station, where he became abusive, saying that he would have witness removed from the force.

Sergeant Peter Dunne, Guard Patrick Lloyd, and Inspector John O'Neill gave it as their opinion that the appellant was suffering from alcoholic drink when they saw him at the station.

The appellant, in evidence, admitted that he had a few drinks that evening with a friend, after which he drove that friend to his home at Raheny. There he had one "half-one" of whiskey and drove back to the city, and was turning into South Anne street when the collision occurred. He was not under the influence of drink. This was the first accident he had had during the twenty-two years he had been driving a motor car.

Dr. Louis Ryan, who had examined the appellant that night in the Guards' Station, gave it as his opinion that Mr. Grierson was not drunk.

Mr. P. Nugent, who had been driven by the appellant to Raheny, and Mr. O'Neill, publican, gave it as their opinion that he was not drunk.

The Judge said that he had no doubt that the District Justice was right in finding that the appellant was not fit to drive a motor car on the occasion in question. He affirmed the conviction, but reduced the sentence from six to four weeks.

CONVICTION AFFIRMED

Noel Kelly, hotel proprietor, Maryborough, appealed from a conviction and penalty of £10, and the endorsement of his licence, recorded against him by Mr. Little in the District Court, on a charge brought against him by Guard Phelan of having on the night of September 22nd, 1935, been drunk in charge of a motor car and driving at a rate of speed which was dangerous to the public at Kilmainham Cross.

The applicant denied that he was drunk and said that he was driving at the rate of 32 miles an hour on his way home.

The Judge dismissed the appeal and affirmed the conviction.

Mr. H. Hare (instructed by Mr. J. P. Collins) appeared for the appellant.

UNLICENSED DANCE

Mrs. Adeline Sweeney, occupier of the Plaza Hotel, Upper Ormond quay, appealed from a conviction and fine of £10 recorded against her for having allowed her premises to be used for public dancing without having a licence.

Guard Edward Thornton stated that on the instructions of Inspector Heffernan he visited the Plaza Hotel about 8.30 on the night of November 15th with a woman friend for the purpose of attending a dance. As they got to the door of the dance room he saw two men sitting at a table. He handed one of them 2s. 6d. for two tickets and received back 1s. 2d. in change. No questions were asked and they passed into the room, where about forty persons were dancing. He ascertained that the people who were running the dance were members of the Vale Social Club. On November 19th he again visited the hotel and paid 8d. for admission to the same men. On later dates he again visited the hotel, paid 2s. 6d., and found people dancing. Thomas McManus, secretary to the St. Anthony Social Club, and James Brennan, secretary to the Vale Social Club, were the men to whom he had paid the entrance fees.

Inspector Heffernan stated that Mr. Cussen, D.J., refused Mrs. Sweeney's application for a dance licence on November 7th, 1934.

Joseph Brennan, 22 Stafford street, for aiding Mrs. Sweeney was fined £7, but he did not appeal.

Thomas McManus, Quartermaster-Sergeant, Arbour Hill, for the same reason was fined £7 by Mr. Cussen, and he, too, did not appeal.

The Judge dismissed Mrs. Sweeney's appeal, affirmed the conviction, and reduced the fine to £5.

Mr. Connolly (for Mr. L. T. McCarthy) appeared for the appellant.

Mr. J. A. Geary (Chief State Solicitor's office) appeared for the State.

REFUSAL TO GIVE UP POSSESSION

George McCutcheon, Kishogue, Clondalkin, County Dublin, appealed from a conviction and a sentence of three months' imprisonment recorded against him by District Justice Reddin at Kilmainham on a charge of refusing to give up possession of the lands of Kishogue, the sentence not to be enforced if he vacated the lands within three days of the order.

The appellant had refused to give up possession.

Mr. W. A. McCracken, Sheriff of the County Dublin, stated that on the 6th of March he evicted the appellant from the lands.

The appellant, in evidence, stated that he was a National Hunt jockey, and had ridden in England, Scotland and Ireland. He returned to Ireland in October, 1935, and went to live with his parents. In return for payments made to his father he was given grazing rights on the lands of Kishogue. He was not served with any notice of eviction, and refused to leave because he believed he had an interest in the lands.

Mr. Law (Messrs. Malcolmson and Law, solicitors) stated that the order was obtained by the Ulster Bank declaring a sum of money well charged on the lands, and an order for sale was made. In December last a further order was made by the High Court directing that the bank be put into possession of the lands within four weeks. As agent for the bank witness was handed over clear possession by the Sheriff on March 6th.

The Judge said that the prosecution was brought under Section 35 of the Enforcement of Courts Order, 1926, which dealt with cases where, after an eviction, any person peaceably and without force re-entered the lands. The technical point had been made in this case by counsel for the appellant that the prosecution was wrongly brought under this section, because it was clear from the evidence that force had been used to effect an entry. The appellant was, therefore, it would appear, entitled to trial by jury. He, therefore, reversed the decision of the District Justice, remarking that, on the facts as disclosed to him, the District Justice was right, as this point had not been brought to his notice.

Mr. C. O'Daly (instructed by Mr. L. T. McCarthy) appeared for the appellant.

Mr. Geary appeared for the Attorney-General to uphold the conviction.

Cork Child's Death.—A verdict of accidental death was returned at an inquest in Cork yesterday on Francis O'Sullivan (5), of 5 Mallow road, Cork, who was run over by a threshing mill near his home the previous day. The boy had his leg amputated after the accident. The driver of the threshing mill was exonerated from blame.

MULCHING ROSES.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—
As every rosarian knows, this practically continuous-flowering section is frequently as floriferous and vigorous in its second or autumn bloom, as in the first flowers of the season, and for that reason the application of some stimulant at this time is essential. This is best applied in the form of a mulch of rich manure, immediately the flowering shoots have been cut back to produce the buds which will carry the second blooms.

WINTER EGG PRODUCTION: IMPORTANCE OF STRAIN.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—
There is no doubt that, despite the vagaries of prices and their present standard, egg production is still the most suitable and profitable line of poultry-keeping for the average farmer. In order, however, to ensure that this shall be as profitable as possible, the first essential must be the taking of adequate measures to secure a good supply of eggs in autumn and winter. Any bird will lay in late spring and summer when the weather is mild and eggs are selling at their cheapest. Large quantities produced at such times will not make up for a scarcity during the period when high prices prevail—that is, from September to December or January.
